ON THE MONEY

Many of our readers love the Moneycard Collector Price Guide. Some dislike it. Few are neutral.

There are few parts of the magazine that readers consistently rate as more important, and yet there are readers who seem to be perpertually dissatisfied with it.

Moneycard collectors are in the hobby because of their fascination with the cards and their thrill of possessing something that is unique or special to them. Speculators, of course, are only interested in the prices, and their passion is for the cash, not the collecting. But there is a part – no matter how small or how deeply buried – of almost every collector that wants to know if the cards they love are worth something. Was Lady Luck on their side? Did they get a good deal?

Let's look at what the Price

Guide is and isn't.

First, it is a guide, not a gospel. We advise readers of that fact in the lefthand column that kicks off the Price Guide section each month. (This month's Price Guide starts on Page 16.)

Here's what we say every month:

"Price listings in the Moneycard Collector Price Guide are provided only as a guide and are based on price lists supplied by several dealers around the world and on other market information. Listings without prices will be completed as suitable market information becomes available.

"Of course, actual card values must be determined by the buyer and seller and the Moneycard Collector Price Guide is just that – a guide."

One of the repeated gripes with the Price Guide is that the prices are too static – they don't reflect change. Our response is what we state in that introduction: Values are based on price lists supplied by several dealers. If they aren't carrying those eards or supply that information to us, we have no choice but to leave the price alone.

It is important for readers to understand that the price guide's purpose is to report, not establish prices. And the guide is a reporting tool, not a forecasting one. Certainly, reviewing the guide over a series of months will give readers a sense of whether a card is increasing in value, decreasing, or remaining stable.

For those who want to learn more about the values of the more active cards in the hobby, we spun off "Hot Cards" as a separate heading a year ago - this month's edition marks the first-year anniversary. In that time, "Hot Cards" has grown to be one of the most-read sections of the magazine.

If you have cards that don't seem to change in value, find out what your favorite dealers are selling them for, and ask them if they are sending us their price lists. The Price Guide is not carved in stone. It thrives on input – more input means a better Price Guide, and that means better informed and happier collectors.

U.S. hobby's growing pains aren't unique

The second Euro-TeleCard phonecard show held in Munich in March shows that the growing pains felt in the North American collectors' market are not unique.

For two days, March 6 and 7, Munich was Germany's phonecard capital. Deutsche Telekom called all collectors, dealers and telcos, and many came to attend Germany's most important phonecard show of the year. The first EuroTeleCard show was held in Dusseldorf two years ago.

The lack of collectors could still be felt as attendance was low compared to other shows.

"Overspeculation has destroyed the market," says Manfred Tack, president of TeleSammler, Germany's oldest collectors' club, founded in 1989. The club has 800 members and used the show as a chance to present its activities and sign up new members. According to Tack, too many new card issues and missing profits have driven away speculators and left serious collectors with a bitter taste.

On the sad side, there was no special area for collectors to trade as there had been in Dusseldorf, and trading among collectors was not actually wanted. I cannot see the reasons for this policy since our hobby could not live without collectors. Quite naturally, collectors want to trade cards and not allowing them to do so will only discourage them from visiting a show again.

While only European telcos were exhibiting, the world on phonecards could still be found in Munich at the many dealer booths. There was a wealth of cards for collectors offering both used and unused cards from about any country issuing phonecards. Many "grab" boxes" allowed collectors to pick up cards at low prices while albums were filled with cards to satisfy even the most specialzed collector. Dealers weren't too happy about the low attendance but as a side-effect they had more time to care for their customers.

Still, collectors enjoyed the show as a chance to meet and pick up new cards. "It is great to have a phonecards-only show," says Heinz Meding, a collector and TeleSammler member. "This way we needn't piggyback on other collectibles even if attendance is lower these days."

With Telekom as host, success was almost guaranteed. Joining Germany's major telephone company were teleos from all over Europe: France Telecom, OTE (Greece), Matav (Hungary), Azienda Autonoma di Stato (San Marino) and Slovak Telecom (Slovakia). Well-known dealers were offering a wide range of cards both domestic and foreign and SAFE and Lindner provided collectors with the necessary supplies.

Telefon-Karten Journal, Germany's only print-magazine for phonecard collectors, also set up a booth presenting the latest issue and TKJ catalogs of German phonecards.

For the show, Deutsche Telekom had produced 4,000 special DM 6 phonecards that also served as tickets for the show. Guests presenting this special phonecard had a chance to win one of many door prizes with a set of 60 self-designed phonecards as first prize.

Soccer and the upcoming World Cup were big topics at the show and this summer will see quite a number of soccer related phonecards.

READERS ALWAYS WRITE

Let's establish a club list

I read Scott Shapiro's "Guest Commentary" (Moneycard Collector, March 1998) and then talked to him on the phone. I have come to the conclusion that our hobby is missing something that can be corrected by Moneycard Collector.

Speaking as a collector, I find it most beneficial to belong to the Greater Toronto Phonecard Club. As a founding member, I look forward to the monthly meetings where we exchange ideas, learn about new issues, view new cards that collectors have obtained, buy, sell, trade cards, hold silent auctions and plan our first phonecard show.

Membership has grown to 33 and some of them are as far away as Montreal and Sidney, Ohio.

There is a small club with a half dozen members in Montreal and we now are making plans to meet with their club. That raises the question, How many clubs are there within a 200-mile radius? I don't know, but I would like to know.

Moneycard Collector has taken a strong lead to show the world that it is a "collector's" magazine. Our hobby could be strengthened tremendously if Moneycard Collector was to periodically publish known clubs with their places, dates and times of meeting. The magazine also could provide space for publishing club activities.

Some of us in the Toronto club would car pool and go to meetings in Buffalo, Syracuse, Cleveland and Detroit if we knew of existing clubs. Inter-club meetings will bind us together, make us grow and eventually may lead clubs to be chapters of a national association.

With all the new changes in Moneycard Collector, club listings would provide the "new venues" that Shapiro talked about in his "Guest Commentary," and produce that much desired meeting place for collectors.

Collectors recount card chases

We asked, and you responded. As part of our "Readers Always Write" column in the April edition, we invited readers to tell their most interesting story related to tracking down a desired moneycard. Collector Ed Matukonis of Forty Fort, Pa., offered a set of four TekTel Smith's Coca-Cola cards as a prize in this contest. Thanks, again, Ed, and thanks to all our participants. See the winning entry in the box at right. We also have included some of the top entries, here. Our thanks to all who participated!

I'll begin by saying that I'm 69 years old, so any "tracking down" of anything becomes a challenge! However, relating to a desired moneycard, I spent many hours at flea markets trying to locate a Sprint $25 Coke Polar Bear. I never did find one, but I was able to acquire a sample card that I cherish just as much. The "Coke Bear" is very compelling and the card satisifies my needs.

Ms. Mary Ellen Ladd, Buffalo, N.Y.

I attended a convention in Knoxville last June. Lee Greenwood was our special guest. I had purchased a "Lee Greenwood Phonecard Concert Ticket" for his concert that evening. On the way to the concert, my group and I stopped at a restaurant. As we pulled into the parking lot, Lee Greenwood walked in front of our car. We stopped and talked to him. He signed our phonecards. This was more than I hoped for!

Barbara Burger, Cleveland, TN

In 1991, I read of the Ameritech Michigan trial series. As a novice, I was interested but knew of no dealers. After many calls, I reached a Michigan Bell employee who thought someone in his office had a card. I finally reached that person, who sold me his card (denomination unknown) for $10. I was surprised to get the 40cent card. Later he sent another 40cent card, but the price increased to $20!

Mike O'Brien, Sandwich, IL

Digging out the car in the snow blizzard would take too long. So I ran to the local Mac's. Yes, they had some CocaCola cards left. Exhausted, cold, sweating I got to Mac's only to hear that the last card sold five minutes ago.

The clerk reached in a drawer and pulled out a small bundle of cards. "You can have these. They're expired." I got 11 CocaCola cards from the summer issue, free.

Louis Kurowski, Mississauga, Ontario

After nine days, my search for the Q-tips phonecard ended. Disgusted, I figured that it just wasn't meant to be. One night at 1 a.m., my friend called me. She needed me to pick up a prescription at the CVS near her house. While waiting, I browsed the Q-tip aisle, and surprisingly I found my treasure. Now my attitude is, "If it's meant to be it will be."

Michelle Altrui, Fiskeville, RI

rom socks to Coca-Cola to cat food, there are phonecard offers out there for the keen-eved collector and refunder.

Some of the cards included in refund or promotional offers are generic cards. The lack of a dynamic image might decrease their value in the eyes of some collectors, but hobbyists should bear in mind that many of the people getting such telecards are not collectors and might throw away a card after using it. Thus, even the plainest card could some day be among the rarest.

When in doubt, use the time on the card - that way, whatever product you are purchasing is even more of a bargain - and then put it away with the rest of your collection.

Let's find out more about some recent offers:

Family Dollar Stores in Virginia were selling packages of six pairs of men's and women's sock for $5.99. No, that isn't the great news. The cotton-picking socks are generic but they come with a free 9-minute MCI phonecard. The card also appears to be a generic sort, a light shade of a tan/green color that depicts a phone receiver lying on its side. The card expires six months from first use, has no scratch-off, and is packaged in a cellophane wrapper. The card was mentioned in the Family Dollar Store sales flier.

People sending in proofs of purchase for a card in the recent Ore-Ida promotion got an envelope sticker offering a trial Half Price any types of telephone cards make the world go around. Let's look at some of those this month. Before you have ventured very far into our hobby, folks will start throwing around unfamiliar words at you. Things like GPT, Anritsu, and Urmet. Well, with a little bit of reading you too can dumbfound your friends with these and other words that have become second nature to seasoned collectors. Many of the specialty words of our hobby have to do with the type of cards. There are about a dozen types.

I promise this discussion won't be boring, especially if you have some phone cards around and can match them up as we talk about the various types. I have borrowed extensively from the superb text by Steve Hiscocks' Telephone Cards: A Collector's Handbook. If you plan to collect seriously, this is a must. It's 128 pages of in-depth text. It is only $20 from the author, payable by Visa or MasterCard from Dr. S.E.R. Hiscocks, P.O. Box 77, Woking, Surrey GU22 0ER, England.

There are two main types of prepaid phone cards: remote memory, predominant in the USA; and stored value cards, used in almost all foreign locations.

Remote Memory

The normal types of remote memory card uses an 800 number to connect via long distance lines to a computer, whose memory contains the control circuitry to direct the completion of the call. Any push button phone will do. When the PIN is entered, the computer accesses its memory and determines the number of units the card contains. The computer reduces the stored value of the PIN as the call is processed and carried by the telephone switch. The switch actually completes the call; the computer controls it. The computer monitors the call and readies itself for follow-up calls when the initial call is terminated.

Embellishments to remotememory cards are endless. They include auto dialing using cardgenerated magnetic data or tones generated by the card's circuits, interactive modes accessing stored data such as weather, stock markets, sports scores, news, "listening to the stars," and nearly any type of broadcast message you can imag-

Stored Value

Used in almost 100 percent of the applications overseas, stored value cards are the "old-timers" of the phone card industry. First developed in the 70s and deployed in the mid-80s, they are of nine basic types. Each carries the actual memory (value) within the card itself. The stored value card must be inserted into special dedicated telephones which have the electronic circuits within them to read the value on the card, decrement the card correctly as it is used, and return it to the user when the call is complete. The phones are quite costly, so they are positioned only in prime locations. In many countries, phones are extremely difficult to

We'll discuss the various types of stored value cards. These are the weird and wonderful words you hear whenever collectors gather.

A. Optical Memory Card. A proprietary product of Landis & Gyr, the memory device consists of tiny "doughnut" circuits positioned along a horizontal strip about twothirds of the way toward the top of the card. In the usual configuration, a laser fires through the semitransparent card and breaks each doughnut as the time is used. This decrements the time available. When the call is terminated, a burn mark is placed upon the strip so the user has a guide to the remaining time. It was used in Great Britain and by NYNEX for a period of time. The optical cards have been used in at least 47 countries. This type should be familiar to most collectors soon after they enter the hobby because of the availability of NYNEX cards. Most of the cards are inexpensive and they are quite attractive. They have a white stripe across the face. You can't miss them!

B. Chip System. A set of electronic circuits is imbedded into the card in the upper left position behind a bright gold or silver contact pad. This system, used in France and Germany, and about 75 more countries, is very resistant to fraud. but costs more to produce than the other types we discuss. The phone time available is only known when the card is inserted into the phone.

In the United States, the most important user is US WEST. There are also many manufacturers of the contact, which sits over the actual chip. Most collectors refer to the contact of silver or gold color as the chip and they avidly collect the same card with different chips. Values can be very high for a scarce, short-run chip even though it is on a common card. That's where money invested in the catalog of the country of interest can really pay off. In one French catalog, the common card of one type is $25; the rare one is $475.

You will hear the manufacturers' names used often, including names such as Schlumberger, Gemplus, Soliac, Bull CP8, Oberthur, Orga. You also will see things like SO4, SI7, etc. These stand for Soliac contact 4, Schlumberger contact 7, etc. Dr. Hiscocks' book and many foreign catalogs have a full breakdown of different contacts.

C. Magnetic System by GPT. The company is really GEC Plessey Telecommunications, but usually referred to as GPT. This system, used in Malaysia, Singapore, and New Zealand, and formerly the widely collected Mercury System of England, offers the same features as the other kinds of cards. It is by far the most popular of the magnetic systems. Embedded ferrite magnetic fields provide the storage capability, and several configurations of the magnetics are possible. This system allows the entire front of the card to be used for design, unlike the systems above.

Some systems (Malaysia and Singapore, for example) allow the user to see the remaining time;
the New Zealand
system requires the card to be inserted into the telephone to read the remaining time. Each country's cards are encoded to only operate in their own phones and they usually have a control code on the back to indicate the country as well as the serial number, and the job number, usually beginning at 1 and progressing upwards as more orders are produced. Thus 5SIG000021 is the fifth order produced for Singapore, and the card is the 21st one produced.

Fifty-eight countries and telcos have used the GPT system. In the mid- and late 80s, GPT introduced the first USA and Canadian cards. Landis and Gyr provided two others. All are rare and in high demand.

D. Urmet Magnetic System. Used in Italy and formerly in Argentina, this relatively low security system is unusual because the corner of the card must be removed before it will go into the phone. It's very easy to tell new from used, but it suffers from unscrupulous operators reloading cards for "free time." Urmet cardphones and the cards have just been introduced in Peru after Urmet bought the national telephone company. The cards have been made by four companies; now just three manufacturers can be found. Eighteen countries have used the Urmet system.

E. Anristu and Tamura Magnetic System. Used in Japan, Australia and by GTE Hawaii and some of the islands in the Pacific, this magnetic system encodes the whole reverse of the card. Some of the more interesting places that Anritsu cards have been used are Christmas Island, south of Indonesia, home of the 80 million crab migration; Cambodia, where one of these UN military cards says clearly "Laos"; and the sparsely populated Federated Micronesian States. The characteristics of the card seem to bring out the highest quality photographic images, and that is one reason why Anritsu cards are so collectible.

Another reason is that the Japanese cards are so prolific. Some cards are absolutely stunning, and most topical collections contain one or more Japanese cards. The cards usually have 50 units indicated at the top, and as the phone call is completed, a small hole is punched through the card to indicate on the scale the time left. There are also denominations of 105, 320, and 540 units. These were discontinued as soon as crooks learned how to recharge the cards in their basements. Look for cards with silver tape across the holes. Those have been illegally recharged. Look also for cards canceled by the telco, NT, by shaving a few channels through the magnetic field on the reverse to thwart reuse.

Ten or 20 countries including many Chinese cities and provinces have used the Japanese system. The above two companies Anristu and Tamura have manufactured the majority of cards, although small printing machines are available, with charged card stock available from the manufacturer with white on the front for printing any custom image.

That's enough to digest this month. Next month, we'll tak about some other types of cards, and take a tour of the Internet.

Saying a mouthful

Food, fun, phonecards mix at Captain Munchies

by Art Becker

magine you own a fast food restaurant in Western Australia. It's near the docks, so there are occasional visits by large warships. Now imagine you are also a phonecard collector, and want to combine business with pleasure. So, you issue some phonecards of your own.

In the real world, such a person actually exists. He is known as Captain Munchies, of Freemantle, Western Australia.

Captain Munchies is also the name of the restaurant, which is the home of the Super Pig Out Burger. It's open 24 hours a day, as the Captain actually removed the front door in 1985. The first Captain Munchies phonecard was also an official Telstra issue. This is the company formerly known as Telecom Australia.

Until the recent chip card issues (see Quik Takes, Moneycard Collector, March 1998), Telstra phonecards used the Anritsu all-over magnetic back phonecard system. So, the first Captain Munchies phonecard was magnetic (see Moneycard Collector, May 1996, Page 66). Though not an official Coca-Cola phonecard, the Coke logo does accidentally show up at least 11 times on the card.

At first, the Captain offered to pay a royalty to Coca-Cola to make the card an official Coke issue, but the company declined. It then turned around and contributed $5,000 toward the cost of producing the card. Go figure. This first card also came in a souvenir pack, for an additional charge. Such packs are sought after by collectors in Australia and New Zealand.

The first five Captain Munchies phonecards include the Coca-Cola logo, as a legitimate part of the design, as opposed to those cards produced mainly as Coke collectibles. Captain Munchies is a major retailer of Coca-Cola products. To many people, this is the most desirable type of Coke phonecard to collect.

This is the first Captain Munchies' card, a magnetic-stripe card issued in July 1995 (Card No. 1 on the chart, Page 10).

Sponsorship obstacles resulted in this card (6c) being issued for the 1997 Windsurfing Championships; a puzzle set featuring Coca-Cola logos originally was planned.

Tie-in to restaurant

A significant feature of many Captain Munchies phonecards is their tie-in to the restaurant, in the form of a redemption offer, included food offer, or attached discount coupon. For example, the first Captain Munchies card, the magnetic Anritsu type, could be exchanged for an ice cream treat and frozen Coke, if it was returned after use, with only one hole punched, and a hot food item purchased. As you'll see later, several of the navy issues included a food discount coupon.

Note that all prices are given in Australian dollars (A$). (US$1 equals approximately A$1.56)

All varieties of the second and third issue of the Captain Munchies remote memory phonecards include a phone card portion, food portion, and free Coca-Cola. This gets confusing, as, for example, card 2c had a $5 denomination on it, but was sold for $10. This was because it included $5 worth of telephone calls, a $5 food credit and a 500 milliliter bottle of Coke. Card 3 also sold for $10, and included $5 worth of phone calls, a $5 food credit, and a can of Coke, but it had a $10 denomination on the front. Cards 2a and 2b didn't have any denomination.

However, all versions of cards 2 and 3 listed the phonecard, food credit & free Coke values on the front. There was some disagreement between the Captain and Teledata whether the denomination on the card should reflect the selling price, or just the phone call amount. The result was two cards with no denomination (2a & 2b), one card with a $5 denomination (2c), and one card with a $10 denomination. While card 2b had two scratch-off panels on the reverse, one for the food credit and one for the Coke, the other cards had only one. Card 2a, had it been issued, would have included five local phone calls, rather than a $5 credit.

Six issues, many varieties

To date, there have been six issues of Captain Munchies phonecards, which include 13 varieties, plus several navy designs, some with multiple denominations. The first card is magnetic, the second, third and sixth cards are remote memory, and the fourth and fifth issues are chip cards. The stored memory cards are official Telstra issues, while the remote cards that were issued are mostly products of Teledata. The unissued card 2a was to have been produced by Kembali Australia. The design is similar to the also unissued card 2b, and included 5 local phone calls, a $5 food credit, and a 600 ml Coca-Cola. It would have been the first remote-memory phonecard produced in Western Australia. Kembali's logo included a boomerang, and the word "kembali" is Indonesian & Malaysian, meaning "return." However, Kembali went out of business before any cards were manufactured. And they haven't returned.

Now a few words about Teledata, which issued all the final versions of the Captain Munchies remote-memory phonecards. The company itself is mainly interested in selling time, and doesn't care in the least about producing phonecards for the collector market. One of its specialties is installing telephone communications centers in natural disaster areas, and in war zones, such as for the UN Peace Keeping Forces in Saudi Arabia.

Teledata would set up a satellite dish and generator along side airconditioned tents containing a pabx and a pc. They had installed some equipment in Western Australia, for use at remote mining operations, when the Captain lured them into the phonecard business. Some of the Navy cards mentioned later are RECOM issues. This is a different company, but the same people.

Captain Munchies was to have been an official sponsor of the 1997 Windsurfing Championships in Western Australia. It would have been a co-sponsor with EziCall, and a two-phonecard puzzle set was designed. Card 6a was to have been given to the competitors, while card 6b was for the officials and volunteers. However, the sponsorship deal fell through for several reasons. The Events Corp., the government agency that managed the event, first couldn't get Coca-Cola as an official sponsor, and then pressured EziCall to drop Captain Munchies as a co-sponsor.

Apparently they thought the Captain would then come up with thousands of dollars in cash to become a full sponsor. This didn't happen. Further, Coca-Cola wouldn't approve the puzzle set design, as they objected to the Coke bottle being split in two. Since the Captain had already given his word there would be a phonecard for the event, he produced the Teledata card 6c. The Captain is currently working on a new puzzle set issue, which he expects to be approved by Coke.

Telstra's chip phonecards

As mentioned earlier, Telstra recently began issuing chip phonecards. These will eventually replace all the magnetic cards currently being used. Naturally, Captain Munchies wanted to be one of the first to have a private Telstra phonecard issued. Telstra has a requirement that 1,000 chip cards is the minimum order, so that's what the Captain ordered.

However, since chip cards are still new to Australia, it turned out there was a shortage of blank $2 cards available for printing. So, Telstra agreed to print a first run of 140 cards (4a). There turned out to be a major design or production problem with these first cards, as all the Coca-Cola information was printed in black and white, instead of color. Telstra demanded that the error cards be returned before any additional cards were printed.

However, the Captain had already distributed some, so was only able to give back 17. Since there was still a shortage of card stock, Telstra then printed 100 full color cards (4b). The remaining 777 cards (1,000 minimum order = 123 + 100 + 777) will have some minor design changes, including the statement on the chip side that these cards are not for resale. This apparently makes Captain Munchies phonecards 4a, 4b and 5a the scarcest Telstra chipcards in existence.

The design for the second Captain Munchies chip phonecard, card 5, used the same photo as the Telstra magnetic phonecard number 1. Again, there was a shortage of blank $2 cards, so an initial run of 100 cards were produced (5a). As with card 4c, card 5c will have some minor design changes, for the remaining 860 cards, including the statement on the chip side that these cards are not for resale.

The Navy issues

Since Captain Munchies is right next to the docks, the restaurant is a big hit with the hungry crews of visiting warships. Some of the ships, such as American aircraft carriers, have thousands of sailors and Marines on board, and they keep the restaurant busy 24 hours a day while in port. At first, some sailors were skeptical of the Captain Munchies phonecards.

One reason was that phonecards were already sold in the ship's stores. However, it was quickly discovered that not only did the cards work as advertised, but that they were considerably less expensive than cards sold on the ship. It didn't hurt that the Captain used attractive young women as phonecard sales agents on the docks.

In April 1997, the USS Independence (CV 62) visited Freemantle. $25 and $50 phonecards were issued, each having a different color. They were attached to a cardboard carrier, which included a full color post card of the ship, plus a $2 food discount coupon with the $5 card, and a $5 discount with the $50 card. The ship was open for tours, and many locals bought the phonecards, too. These phonecards were first ones ever produced in Western Australia. A while later, the USS Constellation (CV 64) showed up for a visit, and a $20 card was produced by the Captain. It was also attached to a picture postcard and $2 discount coupon. What's more, the Captain occasionally engaged in an unofficial buyback campaign of used cards, in exchange for even more food items.

Other phonecards have been issued with designs featuring the H.M.S. Illustrious ($10 and $20 phonecards with postcards and discount coupons) and Commando ($10 and $20 cards, with post card and coupons).

These four phonecards only mention Captain Munchies on the carrier, and not on the cards themselves. This was a political compromise, so that the cards could be sold on board the ships.

Recently, general purpose $10 and $20

This general-purpose card is a contrast to earlier cards that only mentioned Captain Munchies on the carrier.

While not a Captain Munchies card, this $0 denomination Telstra card was promoted by the store.

Both the USS Constellation and the USS Independence were featured on phonecards issued by Captain Munchies. As part of a compromise, the restaurant's name appears on the carrier, not the cards themselves.

This jumbo card shows the restaurant in all its glowing Coca-Cola glory.

> "Freemantle Welcomes the United States Navy" phonecards have been made available. A comparison chart on the phonecard carrier shows potential savings of from 8 percent to 84 percent over other phonecards. These cards feature Captain Munchies right on the front.

> Besides issuing phonecards, Captain Munchies has sponsored several phonecard collector fairs. The first was held on Nov. 12, 1995, outside the restaurant. The Coca-Cola fire truck was there, Coke gave out free drinks and some gifts, and the Captain arranged to have a Ferris wheel, and a bouncing inflated castle for the children. All rides were free, courtesy of the Captain. There were plenty of giveaways and live entertainment. As Captain Munchies said of the fair, "The main thing is that everyone who came enjoyed themselves and those who didn't come are still kicking themselves."

Have you ever heard of a stored memory phonecard with a denomination of zero? Well, Telstra issued one. It was really a prize card for a promotion that Telstra ran, between Jan. 13 and Feb. 21, 1997. Anyone purchasing a $10 Telstra phonecard was given one of the $0 Coca-Cola phonecards. The customer would then insert it into any card payphone. If the card was a winner, it would automatically dial a special phone number, and tell what the prize was.

Cards that were not winners could be mailed in for a secondchance drawing, as if any true phonecard collector would ever part with one in that manner. While this card was not directly associated with Captain Munchies, the Captain did his best to help promote the card in the Freemantle area.

Of course, Captain Munchies has a real name, but there was no sense spoiling the mood by prematurely giving it away. He is actually Lionel Richards. You can check out his web site at www.CaptainMunchies.com, or contact him via his e-mail address, captain@munchies.com.au. You can also write to him at Box 1081, Freemantle 6160, Western Australia.

BRAND NEWS

honecard collectors will want to sit back, put their feet up and pop open a pair of recent cards by Phonecard Express. The Florida-based issuer kicks off this month's column with two incredible looking die-cut cards!

Believed to be the first ever soda can die cuts, two different cards were issued for Hawaiian Punch and Sunny Delight. Parent company Proctor and Gamble ordered 2,500 of each card with 1,250 of each containing 10 minutes and the other 1,250 containing 30 minutes of time. The cards were given out at trade shows with the 30-minute cards being used as employee incentives by Proctor and Gamble. The cards were issued in April and as is the case with all Phonecard Express cards, they are extremely difficult to obtain.

As if die-cut soda can cards aren't enough, Phonecard Express also recently issued a 15-minute phonecard/keychain for Buick. Ten thousand of the keychains were issued for distribution among select Buick dealers in Southern California. The phonecard/keychains were given out to customers as a thank you for test driving certain cars.

One lucky keychain holder just might win a new 1998 Buick if his phonecard/keychain has the one custom voice prompt stating that he won a new car! Now that's interactivity! Another tough card to find, it was issued in April.

Another delectable phonecard was issued in April by DeltaCom. This one was for Nabisco and has 15 minutes of time on it. Only 500 of these cards was issued. The cards were handed out to customers who purchased a case of select Nabisco products while attending trade shows.

iTELSA (formerly ITS) recently issued a promotional card for Ryder. It issued 1,100 cards with 15 minutes of time. The cards were inserted into goodie bags at a Ryder dealer convention. Ryder wanted to give its dealers an item that they could actually use. The cards were issued in late March.

Grapevine Telecards issued another card for the Maui Marathon. The card was pictured in May's "New Issues," Page 24. Each year
Grapevine does a card to commemorate the event.

This year's card has some familiar sponsor logos on the front. Five hundred cards were issued with 10 minutes of time. Contact your favorite dealer for this one.

As we noted in the "Promos & Offers" column in May's edition, you may also want to keep your eye open for Kellogg's cereal boxes. Certain Kellogg's cereals have a free 5-minute AT&T phonecard on the front of the box. Customers need to cut the phonecard out of the box and then call AT&T to get it activated.

On a final note, Creative Communications just issued a card for Hewlett Packard. The cards have 10 minutes of time and 2,000 were issued. Hewlett Packard used the cards as a trade show give a way to promote their web-based products.

That's it for this month! Happy collecting!

HONEYCARD COLLECTOR CARD COLL

Welcome to Hot Cards. This list represents the most heavily sold and traded cards within the last month. Due to the size of the Price Guide, it is often very time-consuming for readers to make their way through the listings in a short amount of time. We created HOT CARDS to provide you trends information quickly, accurately and concisely. Prices reflected on this page are dealer asking/selling prices for only this month.

How to Use The Moneycard Collector Price Guide

Price listings in the Moneycard Collector Price Guide are provided only as a guide and are based on price lists supplied by several dealers around the world and on other market information. Listings without prices will be completed as suitable market information becomes available.

Of course, actual card values must be determined by the buyer and seller, and the Moneycard Collector Price Guide is just that - a guide.

NUMBERING SYSTEM

a card depicting an organized, competitive sports-related image (comes before numerals, e.g. S125)

Pr (before #) = Private card issued for a customer, dis-

by the customer at his/her discretion

Post-numerical descriptor (falls after the numeral)

#-2 = Second Printing

the second printing of a card; a three, four or greater number can follow to denote the actual print run; occurs often with Canadian cards or unlimited run cards

a-z = error/variety

a card whose identical front or back differs from the card with the primary listing; includes language variations, but not denominational variations

M = model/prototype

full-front printed card, may or may not be full-back printed, never issued card with an error that caused its destruction or recall

J = jumbo

an oversized or jumbo card

P = proof artwork on front, blank back

R = replacement

a card that replaced a defective or recalled card

S (after #) = specimen

artwork on front, complete back with false or no pin, or word "sample" or "test'

T = trial/test

live card used specifically for testing a stored value card

Moneycard Collector is committed to providing collectors with the most accurate and unbiased pricing information available in the phone and debit card hobby. Data used in compiling this month's guide was supplied by the following dealers whom we thank for their assistance:

& characters that have influenced and touched our lives form the basis of a really great collection. Many cards have been released over the years that offer these images in a variety of different styles and die cut shapes. Some of the more popular cards have been Elvis, Marilyn, James Dean, Humphrey Bogart, Bugs Bunny, Tweety & Sylvester, Betty Boop, and the number one musical group of all time, THE BEATLES. Below you will find a wide assortment of these time-honored legends, some in sets, some in die cut shapes, but all great. Many of these cards can be seen on our website listed below. Enjoy and remember to contact the Phone Card Connection for all your phone card needs.

CATALOG REVIEW

New catalog will get your motor racing

Ralph dePalma, Mauri Rose, Al Unser Sr., A.J. Foyt, Sterling Moss and Niki Lauda are all names readily recognized by racing fans throughout the United States or Europe. One of the most popular drivers, though, will be recognized by diehard fans around the globe – Ayrton Senna.

Born in 1960 in Sao Paolo, Brazil, Senna went on to become one of the winningest Formula One drivers in history until his untimely death in May 1994, and is a national hero in his home country. Among other things, heroes are meant to be placed on phonecards for collectors like us. Senna is no exception.

Japan probably has been the most prolific issuer of phonecards and Formula One is a hot theme there. It is no surprise that most of the Senna phonecards are Japanese in origin.

After years of researching, collecting and compiling, Ilonka Giessen, who many collectors will remember for producing a catalog of Coca-Cola phonecards in 1996, has produced a catalog dedicated to Ayrton Senna phonecards.

Here are the details: Ayrton Senna Phone Cards

215 pages Ilonka Giessen, author SIRIUS GmbH, publisher ISBN No. 3-9804043-5-8 Retail price is $24 U.S.

If not available from your favorite dealer, you can order from SIRIUS GmbH,
Postfach 5205, 65042
Wiesbaden, Germany. The e-mail address for SIRIUS is <sirius@sirius-phonecards.com. The website address is http://www.sirius-phonecards.com.

Giessen's guidelines for the Ayrton Senna Phone Cards catalog are simple:

- The phonecard had to be legally authorized, produced and issued.
- The phonecard had to have been issued prior to Senna's death May 1, 1994.
- The catalog had to list and show virtually every known phonecard issued worldwide that qualified under the first two criteria.

The catalog documents all 241 known legally issued Senna phonecards from around the world, and it is tri-lingual, using English, German and Portuguese – German since it is the language of author Giessen and publisher SIRIUS and Portuguese because it is Brazil's native tongue.

The catalog succeeds with flying colors, by showing all the Senna phonecards at least full size. Some of the nicer images are two to four times larger than actual size – in effect, mini-posters. All cards have a catalog number and value assigned, and specific facts or points of interest are printed below the card image. And, as readers familiar with the Moneycard Collector Catalog will note, the cards are listed chronologically.

When I received my copy of this catalog, I retrieved my Formula One album and immediately begin checking my collection of Senna cards against the ones listed. I had no idea how many Senna cards I had collected – nor how many I needed yet to have the "ultimate" collection. I still need about 60 more Senna cards. That's the fun of collecting!

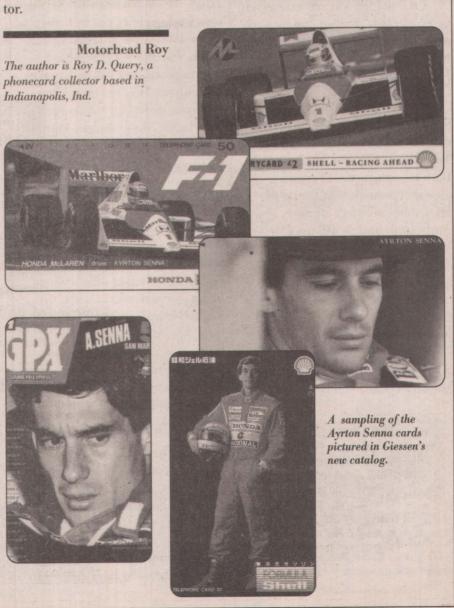

As far as the "value" category in the catalog, a reminder is necessary: This is meant only as a guide, and is not the dictated price of a card. It is handy that the values are listed in U.S. dollars, and with the catalog coming out within the last six months, it is fresh input to our hobby.

Although it might lend the wrong impression – I am strictly a collector, not a dealer – I was glad to notice that none of the Senna cards I have purchased have cost anywhere close to the prices shown in this catalog. Most have been purchased for between onefourth and onetenth of the values shown there. So don't let the values quoted scare you away from Japanese Senna phonecard collecting.

In all other aspects, this catalog definitely is a "must have" for any Formula One phonecard collector.

OH CANADA

his month's theme could be "musical chairs"! The first few months of 1998 have seen a number of changes to the Canadian phonecard landscape, described here in no particular order.

Channel Telecom / Hitcom

Toronto-based Channel Telecom has merged with St. Louis-based Hitcom Corp. Hitcom is involved with both phonecards and Interactive Voice Response products, and also markets services under the name OnePlus Marketing. The Channel brand name should continue to appear, as will its discount retail product PhoneCash. Collectors will recognize the Channel name from the Rolling Stones cards shown in April's "New Issues."

Channel has focused extensively on retail cards. Known designs such as the skyline of Toronto continue to be reprinted.

CallSelect / PhoneTime

CallSelect and PhoneTime joined forces in late March, consolidating operations at PhoneTime's Mississauga, Ontario, headquarters. Both issuer names will continue to appear: PhoneTime at the retail level, and CallSelect for promotional cards. Both brands will use PhoneTime's switch.

PhoneTime's recent releases span a variety of industries and interests. The initial series picturing Canada's coins has been reprinted in minute-based denominations.

The Canadian division of Staples, an office products retailer known as Bureau en Gros in PNT; Nester's Market-Regular; $10 denomination, quantity unavailable; 1997.

Quebec and Business Depot in other provinces, offers 30-minute and 60minute cards incorporating all division logos. Nesters Market, a grocer in Whistler, British Columbia, offers a traditional retail card, one with a special discount to Australia to accommodate tourists and a customer loyalty program where points are converted into long-distance minutes. Another card, the Vancouver City Savings credit union phonecard appears to be the first Canadian card to feature an international toll-free number, accessible from about 20 countries.

CallSelect's recent cards include some tasty treats. Candy dealers were encouraged to stock Certs Cool Mint Drops with an attractive card. English and French cards for Cadbury chocolate were issued April 1. CardCaller / Datawaye

One of the earliest Canadian issuers, CardCaller, has merged with Datawave effective April 1. The new card issuing entity will be known as PhoneLine CardCall, reflecting the earlier purchase of PhoneLine International, and will be based in Vancouver. Twenty new designs were planned when the merger talks began; these designs were not announced at press time.

Fonorola / Sprint Canada

Fonorola has had an interesting spring. The Montreal-based long-distance provider seeks to expand its American interests, but faces concerns from Motorola, active in various areas including cellular phone and pager manufacture, that the name Fonorola was too similar to its own. No sooner had the search to find a new name been announced than Call-Net, the parent of Sprint Canada, announced its intent to take over Fonorola.

AT&T Canada / Telus

What could have been the most interesting and historic merger to discuss actually didn't go through. Telus, the Stentor Alliance member serving Alberta, was considering the purchase of a controlling interest in AT&T Canada. After two weeks of speculations, talks were called off. If the merger had come to pass, Telus would have left Stentor – an unprecedented move – leaving an opening for another company (possibly Bell Canada) to expand into Alberta.

In an unrelated move, as of Jan. 1, AT&T Canada was not issuing any new PINs for prepaid long distance. All existing PINs were turned off

March 31. Some issuers using the AT&T Canada platform, such as Cardinal/Smartalk Canada and CTN, have moved to Canquest.

Bell Canada

Speaking of Bell Canada, the first flyer advertising Bell's chip cards since Bell's outsourcing agreement with Darnell Stamps & Coins has finally hit the streets. Sadly, some designs are already sold out – in general, read "limited quantity" as a euphemism for "sold out" in the leaflet. But be prepared to dig deep into your pockets for the others: More than 100 cards are pictured, including the sold-out cards, and 11 of them carry a face value of at least $20.

Other countries such as Austria have produced successful Zodiac sets, featuring Western or Chinese horoscopes. Bell launches its own Western zodiac set beginning with Aries and Taurus. These are retail cards and the remaining signs will be released during the appropriate months. For the Chinese New Year of the Tiger, Bell offers two cards: an artistic tiger with a maple leaf in its eye, and a picture of the Royal Canadian Mint Year of the Tiger coin. Promotional cards abound, including Ryder Trucks, Slush Puppie beverages, Desjardins Insurance, and a series of Italian coin and stamp shows. Reprinted cards include the Skydivers (LPC S26) adding an airplane on the lower left. Most reprints such as Gaz Metropolitain (LPC Pr41) and CK One Perfume differ only in the order

LPQ; Chinese New Year of the Tiger 1998; $10 denomination 10,000 issued; January 1998.

Bell Canada LaPuce/QuickChange; Darnell Inc. / Chinese New Year of the Tiger coin; $10 denomination; 2,888 issued; April 1998.

Bell Canada LaPuce/Quick Change; Zodiac Series Taurus; $20 denomination; 10,000 issued; March 1998.

number, issue date and quantity.

From the dealer point of view, Darnell has some plans worth watching. In Darnell's Payphone Payday contest, which closes at the end of May, a used card of $5 or more becomes the contest entry for a variety of prizes. Those used cards will be sent to Darnell to be turned into junior-collector kits to encourage young people to begin collecting. Darnell will be advertising on six cards per year to promote itself and the collectibility of phonecards.

ACC Long Distance

A variety of issuers exclusively using ACC for their long-distance service have been folded into the Telesonic Communications customer base. These issuers include Commsen, Transactive Communications, and a handful of cards bearing only the ACC brand. Powertel / Equess

Calgary-based Powertel decided to change its name to Equess Communications. The new name is officially effective at the end of May. Equess stands for "equal access" and is designed to convey that Powertel is more than a telephone company.

SHOWSTOPPERS

Cards abound at CardTech/SecurTech

All the major players were in attendance at the CardTech/SecurTech '98 Industry Trade Show in the Washington (D.C.) Convention Center. This annual show is billed as the largest gathering of the smart card and security card leaders. The underlying theme of this year's show was "Symphony of Solutions" as the industry poises itself for eventual unification efforts under a single smart card platform.

Of special note to collectors were the show attendees promotional smart cards distributed to exhibit hall registrants. Visa International distributed 1,000 vinyl mini-attache cases branded with the Visa logo, which included inside literature on the new Visa Smart, "OpenCard" Platform scheme.

Also in the Visa handout were examples of the recently issued Visa HQ Employee Reloadable Visa Cash card used at Visa Headquarters in San Francisco. Of the 1,000 cards distributed, 100 were specially loaded with $1, which entitled the bearer upon having the card read at the Visa Booth to a free Visa Smart Backpack.

An additional six cards were loaded with $5 and randomly inserted amongst the 1,000 portfolios, entitling the holder to a free framed collectible Visa Cash Smart Card from either the Canadian Pilot Program of Visa Canada or a Visa Rosskort (loosely translated "cash card") from the Russian trial program currently being conducted.

Giesecke & Devrient had a working card dispensing machine set up at its booth, which vended after inserting a G&D demonstration $10 note a G&D Security Card Systems limited edition $1 chip phone card or a G&D GTE $1 chip phonecard that could be used at a special chip phone setup by Nortel at the G&D booth.

At the Gemplus booth, attendees were given the Gemplus CTST '98 promotional show card, which shows generic humans using moneycards in outer space!

Although an industry trade show, for collectors attending the free exhibit hall only, this show is a field day for card collecting. G&D, Sun Microsystems and De La Rue Card Systems distributed examples of the "Java Powered" smart cards capable of running multiple applications on a single card.

Of interest was the debut of the "OpenCard," which is the 10-partner smart card unification scheme. The corporate logos of Visa, IBM, Gemplus, Schlumberger, Sun Microsystems, Bull, Dallas Semiconductor, SCM Microsystems, Netscape and Network Computer all appear on the reverse of this new platform democard. This is the first card seen with the new IBM chip as well! With Visa now onboard in the OpenCard program through its new Visa Smart campaign, which includes Visa Debit, Visa Credit, and Visa Cash on one card in addition to other applications on the OpenCard, this platform looks strong for future rollout.

CardTech/SecurTech can best be described as the beehive of smart cards, with the queen bee yet to be crowned among the many active players in the hive. Watch for major developments and changes in smart cards as we have come to know them in their brief existence. CardTech is where smart minds gathered to build the smart future!

efore telephones, before telegraph, before America became a nation, the peoples we now call American Indians toiled and lived and died on this land. Whether revered for their traditions or romanticized by novels and Hollywood films, those people and their images have made their mark. Not surprisingly, portrayals of American Indians were chosen to adorn many early United States phonecards.

Just mentioning American Indian phonecards brings a resounding chorus: the Perillo Indian Series by AmeriVox (AVX 116-118; 152-154; 232-234; 373-375; 429-432; 592-594). One of the earliest phonecard sets, the authentic artwork of internationally acclaimed Western artist Gregory Perillo was commissioned by Luis Vigdor of Powell Associates to adorn the 18-card series. Issued in six series of three cards, the first three cards – Chief Sitting Bull, Lovers, Blackfoot Chief – were released November

"The Perillo cards are probably the nicest cards I've ever pro-

Chief Sitting Bull

AmeriVox; Perillo I: Sitting Bull; $2.50 denomination; 5,000 issued; November 1993.

AmeriVox; Perillo II: Geronimo;$2.50 denomination; 5,000 issued; February 1994.

AmeriVox; Perillo IV: Young Crazy Horse; $2.50 denomination; 5,000 issued; September 1994.

When asked about a future release, he admits, "I've been toying with the idea."

An interview with Perillo – who calls himself Crazy Horse – reveals him to be a romantic with a tremendous zest for living. Talking with his paintbrush in one hand and the phone in the other, Perillo radiates a dynamic joy that is reflected in his powerful mastery of Western American art. When asked if he has a "favorite phonecard," he replies, My favorite is always what I am working on at the moment."

USACard; Trail of Tears; 5 minutes; 525 issued (plus 50 samples and 10 proofs); August 1996.

Klaus Degler of USACard, Denver, distributed these early releases and shares interesting statistics about the cards. Although limited to 5,000 pieces, Degler indicates that Sets IV, V, and VI actually had only 3,000 cards issued, with just 12 or 14 matched-numbered sets painstakingly assembled. A large number of Set III – Eskimo Love, Chief Black Kettle, Hiawatha and Minnehaha – were purchased by a German dealer and sent to Europe, where they sold for 100 marks or about $65 a set.

European fascination

Degler's assessment of the European market's fascination with America's Old West led to USACard's American Heritage Series (USA 46-49) release in December 1995. Sioux Chief Red Cloud was portrayed on one of the four $5 cards, with a mintage of 1,000, and most of these particular cards again went to Germany. The Japanese also have a attraction for the romanticism of the wild west, and these cards also found a ready market there.

USACard also issued a "Trail of Tears" card in August 1996. The 5-minute card, 525 issued, plus 50 samples and 10 proofs, was produced in conjunction with Tennessee's bicentennial and marked the brutal march of Cherokees from their Southeastern homes to resettlement in Oklahoma.

Betty Houghtaling, B.A.B. Kollectible, and her husband, Buz, have accumulated a small Indian-type art collection over the years. She has sold a number of the entire Perillo 18-card series and finds that many collectors of his work are partial or full-blooded Native American Indians. They are attracted to his authentic depictions of their proud heritage.

Asked about other Indian phonecards, she recommends, "The U S WEST Series are absolutely beautiful cards, but it was really only available to employees, so it never got the recognition it deserved on the collector's market." With 60,000 employees and 25 million customers, a short run of the initial $1 Complimentary card seriously limits the number of complete sets available to collectors.

Two Northwest Legacy Series were released by U S WEST between March and December 1994 (USW 15-24). These Schlumberger chip cards depict Indian artifacts: $1 Complimentary "Headband" (5,000); $3 "Root Baskets" (10,000); $5.25 "Bowl and Pestle" (30,000); AmeriVox; Perillo III: Chief Black Kettle; $2.50 denomination; 5,000 issued; April 1994.

$11 "Corn Husk Bags" (10,000); $22 "Chief Headdress" (10,000). Series II features: $3 "Necklace" (20,000); $5.25 "Hand Drums" (15,000); $5.25 "Wood Bowl" (20,000); $11 "Cornhusk Bags" (10,000); and $22 "War Clubs" (10,000).

Only two proofs of each Series I card are known to exist. However, 50 to 100 TelMex cards depicting a Mayan Pyramid were used by U S WEST in December 1992 in its early trials.

American National Phone Card, Tarzana, Calif., released "Geronimo," first card of "The Great American Indian Chiefs," an ambitious 48-card series, in May 1996. Arizona Apache Geronimo, super-imposed over a ghosted image of Apache Territory, is the first card; the second planned was Chief Joseph of the Nez Perces, "I will fight no more forever." Limited to 1,000 each, the cards come packaged in a brochure of Indian history and sell for $9.99.

Contemporary portrayals

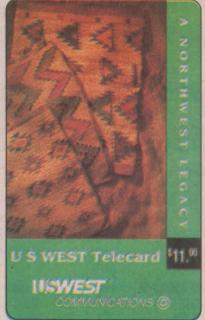

Three vivid contemporary portrayals of Southwest art by Amado Maurillo Pena appeared as the "Pena Spirit" in December 1995. Issued by Guest Communications, EZCom provided services through JD Services, Salt Lake City, UT. JD did a private issue for the Sioux Honey Association in August 1995 (JDS Pr1), portraying the Sioux Honey Bee and commemorating "75 Years of Excellence." Ten thousand cards were issued. An Oklahoma Native American $20 was also issued in November 1996 (JDS Pr30.)

Destiny Telcomm International, although no longer in operation, issued an attractive almost surrealistic series of 10 Cheyenne Art painted by Seidel Standing Elk and his wife, Edle. Issued in 1997, there were 950 of each $10 card, with only 50 of each $20 card, signed by the artist.

Canadian Phone Line International and Phone Line USA simutaneously issued "A Tribute to the North American Indians" in October 1993. The two-card set featured Phantom of the Eagle and Phantom of the Great Warrior taken from oil paintings by Susan Brooks.

Canadian issue was 1,000 each of $10 Eagle and $20 Warrior

US WEST; Beaded Headband (Northwest Legacy Series I), left, $1 denomination; 10,000 issued; March 1994; and Cornhusk Bags (Northwest Legacy Series II); $11 denomination; 10,000 issued; December 1994.

AT&T; Pocahontas; 5 minutes; 100,000 issued; January 1996.

Phone Line USA; Phantom of the Eagle (above) and Phantom of the Great Warrior (below); $10 and $20 denominations, respectively; 10,000 and 5,000 issued, respectively;

(PLI 5, 6); the US issue (PLU 23-25) was 10,000 each of $10 and $40 Eagle, as well as 5,000 of the $20 Warrior cards.

Although Steve Schwartz, Sears Phone Card Department, finds that Native American Indian cards are "asked for on occasion, but not often," he, too, finds that the Perillo set is well liked. He personally considers the jumbo Perillo to be the best, and adds that there were also 25 test cards produced.

Schwartz is aware of a couple of cards that are on a related theme and should attract collectors. Collectors' Advantage/Mercury Marketing released an attractive silver hologram $5 card of an Indian Motorcycle logo in October 1993; only 1993 were issued. Uncle Jim of Palm Harbor, Fla., did a card featuring a 1995 Collector's Doll, designed by Little Sue, and authentically dressed in a ceremonial dress, with beadwork, and a spectacular feather headdress. Released in November 1995, 1,000 were issued.

In January 1996, AT&T released 100,000 phonecards featuring Walt Disney's animated blockbuster Pocahontas (ATT Pr100) The five-minute cards were inserted into Home Video movie packages, and were an immediate success with Disney fans of all ages, be they children or young-at-heart adults.

Although our history of phonecard collecting is still fairly short in the United States, its reflection of the rich cultural heritage of American Indians adds to our legacy. The "good old days of collecting" are still ahead of us.

QUIK TAKES

APCOMM UNVEILS TRAVEL CARD. "The Travel Card is something that I have had in line for over a year," says Ken Streetman, owner of Capital Communications Group, Houston. Streetman says phonecards used by truckers was the inspiration for The Travel Card, which he launched in May. The plan is to encourage travel agencies to sell the card. Capital Communications will sell the $20-denomination, 100-minute card at a discount to travel agencies, which then can give or sell to clients. There were nine original test cards made. The initial run probably will be 500 to 1,000. Time on the test cards is by Cable & Wireless.

ARRIER SERVICES INC. NOTES
GROWTH. Carrier Services Inc. parent company of the 1-800-PRE-PAID brand, grew 740 percent in 1997, making it one of the fastest-growing companies in Oregon.

Beginning with the production of the Aadvantage Prepaid Phone Card in 1996, Carrier Services Inc. and American Airlines capitalized on a previously untapped marketing niche within the prepaid industry, notes CSI President and CEO Doug Fieldhouse. In 1997, CSI formed similar strategic marketing partnerships with United Airlines and Reno Air to provide rechargeable cards that award frequent flyer miles with each purchase.

"We've consistently achieved an average recharge rate of better than 30 percent with all of our programs," Fieldhouse says. "This is well above the current industry average of 5 percent and is a significant factor in the rapid growth we've had over the last year."

CSI is planning to expand the number of its alliances with major travel organizations in 1998, Fieldhouse says.

CI ADDS DRUG STORE CHAIN. LCI
International has announced a multi-year agreement to provide Durham, N.C.-based Kerr Drug with prepaid phonecards for the chain's private label "Kerr Drug Carolina Phone Cards."

The cards feature LCI's six-second rounding, which will provide consumers with more calling time per card, says Mark Welton, vice president of LCI enhanced services. Calls made with the Kerr Drug phonecards will be carried over LCI's 4,500-mile fiber optic network and will be debited in six-second increments, rather than rounding up to the next full minute like some other carriers.

Under the agreement, LCI will produce the cards, provider customer service and develop retail programs with Kerr Drug. The cards, depicting scenes from the Carolinas, will be available in 30-, 60- and 120-minute denominations. Kerr will carry the cards in its 165 stores in North and South Carolina.

LCI recently launched its new flagship line of prepaid phonecards, the "Say LCI" and "Global Say LCI" brands. A facilities-based provider of prepaid cards since 1993, Virginia-headquartered LCI offers retail, private-label, promotional and special occasion prepaid products.

ATAWAVE, AT&T SIGN HOSPITAL DEAL.
DataWave Systems Inc. of Vancouver, British Columbia, manufacturer of the world's only intelligent prepaid calling card dispensers, has signed an agreement with the AHA TelePLAN to distribute AT&T prepaid long-distance cards to American Hospital Association members throughout the U.S.

With this agreement, AT&T will have the exclusive right to sell its prepaid long-distance calling cards through DataWave's proprietary Telecard Merchandisers in more than 6,000 AHA hospitals across the United States. The electronic machines dispense and activate the cards at the time of purchase. This unique "point-of-sale activation" eliminates inventory control problems previously associated with calling card sales, while offering a wider range of calling card denominations.

According to John Bisinger, vice president of AHA TelePLAN, "This new AT&T/DataWave program will provide a valuable service to the millions of patients, medical staff and visitors who pass through AHA hospitals every year." Though individual AHA hospitals must negotiate their contracts independently, 50 have already signed onto the AT&T/DataWave program, including the Adirondack Medical Center, which serves the U.S. Winter Olympic Team.

IGITEC 2000 PURCHASES PHONECARD DISTRIBUTOR. DIG-ITEC 2000 Inc., a New York-based provider of prepaid telecommunications products and services, has signed a letter of intent to acquire the distribution base of Phone Card Wholesalers Inc., one of the largest phonecard distributors in the United States.

Phone Card Wholesalers Inc. recorded revenues in excess of $15 million in the last year.

DIGITEC 2000 Chairman and Chief Executive Officer Frank Magliato says: "We will continue to expand internally and through acquisition. This distribution blends very well with our existing base and supports the growth of our business."

DIGITEC 2000 develops customized corporate and affinity prepaid phonecard programs as well as promotional and premium programs for major corporations. The company's retail brands include DIGITEC Direct, F/X, F/X Mexico, F/X South America and Caribbean Direct.

New York report critical of phonecards report issued by New York City takes a critical view of the phonecard industry.

"This office acts as kind of an ombudsman or liaison for consumers," Justin Martin, author of the report, explains. "A lot of people have called in with complaints about phonecards. The Public Service Commission, which regulates the telecommunications industry in New York State, doesn't have very strict laws regarding phonecards. So, we took 12 cards to see what they were like and then wrote a report. Based on our experiences with them, we are now making suggestions for changes to the Public Service Commission."

The report, issued in March, is called simply "Pre-Paid Telephone Cards." Of the aforementioned dozen cards Martin examined, he found something wrong with ALL of them.

"Yeah," he admits. "While there was nothing necessarily illegal going on, it seemed to us a little more public disclosure would be a good thing. By that I mean having cards include their expiration dates, customer service numbers, tell people that they have monthly services charges and stuff like that. We understand that part of the reason is because they don't have enough room on the card to put all the information on it. On the other hand, there should be something on the packaging or outside literature that does."

Some of the points raised in the report (See box, right) can be easily thrown out. Plain and simple, it makes a heck of a lot of sense to use a phonecard at certain times and that phonecard call will be considerably cheaper. On the other hand, hidden charges, useless phonecards and either nonexistent or noncooperative customer service support are serious charges for the industry to consider. The report estimates that the phonecard industry will grow to a $4 billion industry by the year 2000. Of course, if the phonecard industry gets sideswiped by these kinds of charges, it can seriously hurt its acceptance.

On his part, Martin thinks part of the problem is the phone card industry is a very young industry at barely five years of age.

"I would say that has something to do with it," he admits. "Also, the Public Service Commission has an interesting idea about it. They don't realize that a lot of the time is actually bought from a long-distance provider and then resold. The Commission doesn't feel that these people are in the business of selling long-distance communications. As such, they don't have to register with the state. We feel that's not a very good idea."

Among the cards examined were PT-1's New York Phone Card and PTI card, ECONOphone, NY Connect, Payless, Tele-Friends, The World Card, TropiCard, AT&T, NYNEX and DigiTEC Direct.

Among the New York City report's findings were the following (quoting directly from the report):

- 1) Seven of the cards purchased didn't list their per-minute rate on the outside of the package, making it impossible to comparison shop.
- 2) Some cards claimed their rates were "as low as" [a number stated] without giving a maximum. Such claims usually did not include additional charges such as a connection fee.
 - 3) One of the cards never worked.
- 4) The expiration dates of four of the cards were not revealed to the purchaser until after the card was removed from its package or customer service was called.
- 5) Some cards imposed a fee of $0.25 to $1.00 a month. This fee or the amount of this fee was not always disclosed until the card had been purchased and opened or was disclosed before purchase only in miniscule "mice type."
- 6) The customer service numbers of two cards were unreachable and the personnel reached at three other cards were unhelpful when called.
- 7) The cards have one-minute billing increments compared to six seconds for some residential long-distance calling plans.
- 8) Some of the prepaid cards make additional deductions to compensate the owner of the pay phone ($0.35) and another $0.35 for not using the payphone's chosen long-distance carrier. No card explicitly disclosed these fees on the card or package.
- 9) Since rates don't vary with the time of day, on weekends and nights prepaid cards can be somewhat more expensive than calling from a home phone.

Martin is the first to say not all of these cards are bad cards.

"I think there are cards that give you good value. We don't want to hurt the industry. One of the things that PT-1 is concerned about is that they can't publish all the countries they service. It's a pretty long list. On the other hand, they do provide a list to any customer who asks for it."

"We are talking to the International Telecard Association," he says. "They are saying New York's Public Service Commission is being pretty lax about it. It's almost the complete opposite of what Florida's up to, which has some pretty strict guidelines. All I can say is we probably aren't going to push any harder unless the complaints keep coming. Then we'll see what we'll have to do to send a message to the industry."

RESCOM, TREMCOM TEAMING UP. TresCom International Corp. announced in March that it has established a strategic partnership with Tremcom International Inc. of Los Angeles. The goal is to increase Tremcom-TresCom sales and marketing efforts throughout the United States.

"This agreement gives us yet another marketing channel to penetrate a wide array of ethnic markets domestically," says TresCom Vice President of Sales Denise Boerger. The two companies have worked together before and this agreement formalizes collaboration while broadening TresCom's retail program.

Tremcom has established sales and marketing channels that penetrate niche ethnic retail and business customers throughout the United States. Besides benefiting from additional traffic on its international networks, TresCom will provide "back office" services and customer support as part of the agreement.

TresCom is a facilities-based international communications company headquartered in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., with service to more than 230 countries. While building its network worldwide, TresCom specializes in the Caribbean and Latin American markets and strategically has secured an equity position in every major submarine fiber optic cable serving the region. Many collectors will recall the issuer's colorful "Siempre Coca-Cola" phonecard and carrier.

TresCom also has announced a merger agreement with Primus Telecommunications Group Inc., an international telecommunications company headquartered in Vienna, Va., which provides long-distance services to more than 200 countries. Shareholder meetings of both companies are anticipated in June.

In late March, TresCom turned down an unsolicited bid from IDT Corp. of Hackensack, N.J.

Smartalk purchase spells changes for Am Ex Telecom

by Art Becker

ou might have heard the term "overtaken by events," or "OBE." Well, that's pretty much what happened to this article about American Express and its phonecards.

As you know from the Moneycard Collector Catalog,

As you know from the Moneycard Collector Catalog, American Express Telecom (AMX) issued several public and private phonecards, and is probably best known for producing the FirstClass PhoneCards for the United States Postal Service (USPS), which has its own separate catalog listing. Then, as you know from the April 1998 issue of Moneycard Collector, Smartalk Teleservices Inc. (STI) bought the company. So, before getting into what's happening now, let's talk about what American Express Telecom used to do.

American Express Telecom was a huge business unit of American Express. You can guess that from its selling price of $44 million. It started issuing phonecards in 1995. Its public issue phonecards, as well as most private issues, had travel-related themes. In fact, they were generally available only through American Express travel agencies. A private 22-card series was produced for the National Park Foundation.

Of special interest is the fact that 10,000 phonecards were produced in October 1996, which took the form of adhesive labels. The intent was to put them on the reverse of business cards. Of course, the labels could be attached to practically anything, and still fall under the definition of a phonecard.

American Express & the U.S. Postal Service

American Express Telecom is best known for producing the USPS FirstClass PhoneCards. Note that the USPS uses all capital letters when referring to these cards, but that format doesn't look very attractive in print. The first cards were produced in November 1995, and the series continues to this day. These phonecards are available at 14,000 post offices, and via (800) 782-6724. There have been at least three dozen different designs produced, all of which were also postage stamp designs. Not surprisingly, the phonecards usually look even better than the original stamps, as they are considerably larger, so the details are much easier to see.

Interestingly, these were not the first phonecards produced for the USPS, and with the USPS logo on them. That distinction goes to a set of three cards produced as a trial by Prepaid Telecommunications International Inc. (PTI 105 to 107). These $5, $10 and $20 phonecards feature the famous Graf Zeppelin USA airmail stamps of 1930. While a mere 1,000 sets were produced, they are readily available from the Sears Phone Card Department, and Global Telecard Co., among other dealers.

While Smartalk purchased American Express Telecom in late 1997, for several months it was business as usual. New USPS phonecards were issued, and Smartalk continued to issue its own phonecards as well. Then, in the last days of April 1998, new plans were announced. Future FirstClass PhoneCards would be issued under the Smartalk name.

Changes under Smartalk

There were some other changes, as well. For one thing, the new designs had the denomination in minutes. Previously the cards had a dollar denomination on them. Interestingly, the number of minutes changed for some previously issued phonecards, even though the face value remained the same. That's because the USPS settled on a flat rate per minute, whereas it used to charge different rates, depending on the denomination. The old domestic rates used to be:

$5 = 9 minutes = 55.5 ¢/minute$10 = 20 minutes = 50 ¢/minute

$20 = 45 minutes = 44.4 ¢/minute$50 = 125 minutes = 40 ¢/minute

$100 = 300 minutes = 30 ¢/minute

When the USPS went to a flat rate, the remaining time on previously sold cards was adjusted automatically. For example, a $10 card changed in value from 20 minutes to 26 minutes. The recharge rate is 33¢ a minute. Additional improvements were made, as well. While you could call hundreds of foreign countries using a USPS phonecard, now you can call the United States from about 25 foreign countries, using a FirstClass PhoneCard. Best of all, these cards are replaceable if lost or stolen.

New minute-denominated cards have started appearing in post offices. Denominations include 30, 60, 180 and 400 minutes, with the cards selling for $10, $20, $50 and $100, respectively. As you probably noticed, the flat rate concept has again disappeared, and you'll get a better rate with the larger denomination phonecards.

However, even the lowest denomination cards are available at a lower cost than before. And here's the most striking news: These new cards are being issued under the Smartalk label. Further, even more services are being offered with the new cards, including conference calling, voice mail, and FAX mail box services.

Phonecards before stamp designs

The story gets better, as some of the new phonecards, which started being sold in April 1998, have designs from stamps that haven't been issued yet. Here's a rundown of the most recent cards, with some additional background information.

Bright Eyes – A 30-minute $10 phonecard showing four of five pet stamps, the stamps not being issued until July, or so. The placement of the stamps on the phonecard is apparently different from how the actual stamps will appear on a sheet. Other USPS phonecards have depicted pets (USP 9, 10, 17 & 28).

Irises - A 60-minute $20 phonecard from the 1993 series of flower booklet stamps. Three other phonecard designs from this series were issued last year (USP 19 to 21).

Space Discovery – A 60-minute $20 phonecard from a panel of 5 designs to be issued in October. This phonecard complements those issued last year in the Spaceship Series (USP 25 & 26), and the Space Shuttle Endeavour (USP 8).

Cinco de Mayo – A 60-minute $20 phonecard. The stamp design has been cropped, and the wording moved, in order to fit the different size of the phonecard, compared to the stamp.

Soaring Eagle - A 180-minute $50 phonecard featuring the image of a 50-cent overseas airmail postal card from 1995. Another $50 eagle phonecard was prevously issued (USP 31).

Numismatics – A 400-minute $100 phonecard showing the design used for a 29-cent stamp from 1991. This same design was also used for a previously issued $50 phonecard. The USPS catalog incorrectly refers to numismatics as "coin collecting," when it is actually the collecting of all forms of money, including paper money (as shown in the phonecard and stamp design), and probably even cards such as Visa Cash and Liberty Cash.

The USPS spring 1998 catalog "USA Philatelic" lists 20 older design FirstClass PhoneCards still for sale. Some are available only in limited quantities, so will probably be sold out by the time you read this.

Several other designs have been issued subsequent to the Moneycard Collector Catalog, and are already sold out. These are the last of the American Express Telecom branded phonecards. Get them while you can.

The TITANIC Trilogy

Is Now Complete - Introducing Part III

The TITANIC Calling CoinTM

Shown above in actual size is the beautiful new TITANIC Calling CoinTM. The fabulous TITANIC Trilogy is now complete. The large size TITANIC Calling CoinTM is beautifully minted in PROOF Condition (the finest quality in which a coin can be produced) in gleaming Nickel-Silver, one of the most durable metals in existence. It is a ten minute, fully rechargeable phone card in the form of a metallic coin, and comes in a special collector's protective plastic capsule. This most unique finale to the trio of TITANIC Phone Cards is only $14.95 while they last. Please add $3.50 per order postage. California residents add 8.25% Sales Tax. There will also be available a 2 Coin Proof Pattern Set - featuring one regular issue nickel-silver TITANIC Calling CoinTM and one 2 Ounce Pure Silver Pattern TITANIC Calling CoinTM. Only 50 of the Pure Silver Pattern Coins will be issued, and each set will be serial numbered from 1 to 50. The two coins are presented in a special custom, gold-lettered lucite plaque. The total presentation is stunning. The price is $135.00 per set.

There will also be a special issue of unusual TITANIC Calling Coins™ in Vermeil. Vermeil is 24 Kt. Gold overlaid on Pure .999 Silver. Only 50 of the rare Vermeil TITANIC Phone Coins will be issued, and each will come in a protective plastic capsule and in a beautiful presentation case. The price for one of these very special precious metal Phone Coins will be only $49, and each of the 50 coins issued will be serial numbered. It has been our desire to make this TITANIC Series one of the most outstanding Phone Card Sets ever produced. That is why we are concluding the final Part III of our series with some very special and rare varieties. There will even be a special surprise offering for those who have collected all 3 parts of the TITANIC Trilogy. Part I of the Trilogy was the unique Die-Cut TITANIC Card also American National Phone Card 5959 Tampa Avenue - Tarzana, CA 91356 Phone: (818) 609-7666 Fax: (818) 609-9725 shown above. The price of Part I was only $14.95 - but if you have not yet obtained this "America's Most Wanted" card you should call to reserve one immediately as truly just a few cards are still available. Part II - the incredibly beautiful Jumbo Titanic is priced at $24.95, but again only a few cards remain. Visa-MC-Discover & Amex accepted. Don't miss the boat!
