ON THE MONEY

MONEYCARD MILESTONES Moneycard Collector is one year old – 12-plus months of non-stop news in the phone card industry! Time for us to look back a little and think about the journey so far – where we've been, and where we're going.

JULY 28, 1994 Moneycard Collector is officially launched at the American Numismatic Association Convention in Detroit.

AUGUST 1994 Upper Deck is the first major sports trading card company to jump into phone cards – a joint effort with GTS.

SEPTEMBER 1994

AmeriVox unveils a revolutionary new international product – the Transworld card; Vista-United introduces the first of its tremendously popular phone cards; NBC and Sprint promote new fall shows with phone cards.

OCTOBER 1994 Brilliant Color Cards introduces environmentally friendly polyester-based cards; PacBell becomes fifth RBOC to issue cards.

NOVEMBER 1994 Comic publishers start to jump on the phone card band wagon; Coca-Cola introduces phone cards in special holiday packages.

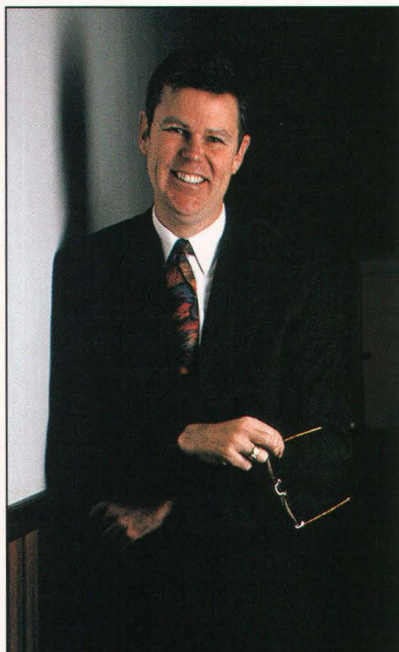

DECEMBER 1994 The first definitive story on Hallmark Long Distance Greetings cards lists and shows all 53 of the popular cards to date; Bell Atlantic initiates first field trial.

JANUARY 1995 AmeriVox provides exclusive story on its impressive JFK program; giant convenience store chain 7-Eleven adds phone cards to regular store inventory.

FEBRUARY 1995 The hobby's first monthly Price Guide makes its debut; cover features $1,000 denomination Classic Assets card of Shaquille O'Neal, which later sells for $5,000.

MARCH 1995 Moneycard cover story about multi-application debit cards features the DANYL Corp., which is quickly purchased by Schlumberger; our site is established on the World Wide Web of the Internet – <http://www.moneycard.com/moneycard/>

APRIL 1995 AT&T/Snoopy/Steve Young combine to create Snoopy Bowl cards; GTS and Upper Deck team up for the first officially licensed Major League Baseball cards; Moneycard Collector is official sponsor of San Francisco phone card expo.

MAY 1995 Two very hot products grace the Moneycard Collector cover: Star Trek and the first issue of Ronald McDonald /Coca-Cola cards; Telemax terminated by Power Rangers;

Moneycard Collector is first phone card publication to be distributed nationally via the news stand.

JUNE 1995 Interactive Bart Simpson cards and Gillette's mega-hit NCAA Final Four promotion are featured.

JULY 1995 Coca-Cola's issues its first official phone card; 20,000 MCC magazines handed out at National Sports Collectors Convention.

AUGUST 1995 Monthly Price Guide grows to more than 1,200 listings; the number of newsstand outlets grows to 417 in the U.S. and 19 in Canada.

In the upcoming year there will be more great stories: cards for the Atlanta Olympics and probably some amazing multi-application cards, just to name a couple.

In conclusion, we at Moneycard Collector would like to give special thanks to:

• Our Readers

It is really your magazine! Without you, our success would not have been as grand. You have told us what you like and dislike and we have responded. Keep the suggestions coming.

• Collectors

You are the reason the hobby is growing. You are taking advantage of this ground-floor opportunity and making things happen.

• Advertisers

A special thanks for helping promote the collector hobby and for the support you've provided throughout the year.

• Contributing Writers

Thanks for sharing all the knowledge and ideas with us and our readers. Educating the collector community is paramount to all of our successes.

Thanks again to all of you for making our first year in business so successful.

READERS ALWAYS WRITE

The real proof

There has been so much interest in the spectacular set of four Ronald McDonald House (with Coca Cola logo) fund-raiser cards that were released on November 11, 1994 through Frank Zamarripa (Frank & Sons), and I wanted to clarify one question we have been asked.

Originally, there were 3-4 blank-backed proof sets printed on the same 18-mil thickness as the actual 500 sets released in folders. Subsequent to that, 15-20 complete (fewer on some of the four individual cards and a few more of others) blank-backed proof sets were introduced on 29-mil – noticeably thicker – for the purpose of sending to publishers, editors and a few top dealers to publicize the set.

The true “proofs” were those few 18-mil blank-backed ones originally produced in October of 1994. The other 28-mil versions were made primarily for publicity and public relations reasons.

It is wonderful when a phone card can raise about $27,000 for a most worthy cause, Ronald McDonald House, and generate tremendous interest from collectors around the world at the same time.

David Michael Eastis, Exec. Vice President, AmeriVox

Coke confusion

I would like clarification on the recent article citing the 1995 Atlanta Coca-Cola telecard as the first licensed American Coca-Cola issue. It's unclear to many collectors how telecards issued by grocery store chains, in packages of Coca-Cola trading cards, or the Monsters of the Gridiron issue don't qualify as licensed products.

Furthermore, if a product is first in the market and authorized by Coca-Cola, why should collectors be concerned about licensing? Unauthorized products are a different matter.

While the Dillons and Monsters of the Gridiron have a second logo, the trading card issue does not. It would be helpful if you could clear up the confusion.

Greg Pelischek, Hutchinson, Kan.

The entire area of licensing is extremely confusing. We stated that the World of Coke “Springtime in Atlanta” card was the first card officially ISSUED by the giant soft drink manufacturer. The earlier promotional cards that you mentioned (Dillons, Smiths, United, and Monsters of the Gridiron) included authorized Coca-Cola logos, but they were issued by other organizations. Far from being unimportant, these cards have repeatedly appeared on our monthly “America’s Most Wanted” list of the month’s top-selling cards. Collectors value the “first” of just about anything, but when it is officially issued by the company itself, there is an added legitimacy to the collectible. Add to this entire scenario, the worldwide collector appeal of anything with the Coca-Cola logo printed on it, and you have a full-scale phone card feeding frenzy.

More overseas cards

Whilst Moneycard Collector is a good read each month and now arrives more promptly here in Europe than previously, we would like more recognition that there are cards out there from more than 170 other countries.

Your feature on prison cards, “Collecting With Conviction”, would have been an admirable opportunity to feature a few non-American prison cards, such as those in use in Norway, England and Scotland. We draw your attention to three very photogenic cards normally available only for “insiders.” They are available from dealers, like myself, for a low price.

Eric Elias, Philcard International, London, England

Thanks for the input from across the pond. Since the vast majority of our subscribers (so far) reside in the U.S., we have pretty much confined our editorial coverage to American issues. There have been some notable exceptions, however: Alex Rendon’s five-part history of phone prepaid cards, Gary Felton’s feature on multi-piece cards, and Art Becker’s piece on transit cards.

As for our prison card feature, “Collecting With Conviction,” our freelance writer consulted with several different dealers for examples of such cards and found only the ones mentioned in the story. We realized that there were probably other examples out there, but we simply couldn’t include all of them. Thanks for sharing these with our readers.

What’s the value?

I would like to know if the collectible phone cards have a value after you use up the $5, $10, etc. value of the card. I understand about the phone cards which have a little black scratch-off area to obtain the authorization number. Do these cards have to be reactivated each time they expire, in order to be collectibles?

Pat Corvetti, Baldwin, N.Y.

Yes, most cards will retain a certain dollar value, even when all of the phone time has been used up or expired. At the present time, collectors are paying a higher price for unused cards, but that could some day level off.

Not all cards are rechargeable, and it is not necessary to add time for it to be collectible. Adding time will not make the card “like new” again, despite what some people believe.

WHAM!

HOLY BAT CARDS!

POW!

'Quick, Robin, hand me the Bat phone!'

by Murray Church

ZAP!

Holy remote memory, Batman, with these new prepaid phone cards we'll have a ball with our Bat phone!"

Okay, Robin probably wouldn't say that to his caped super-hero pal. But one thing's for sure — new Batman phone cards based on the hit movie, "Batman Forever" are bound to be highly sought-after by collectors.

The new cards have been issued by a private Canadian phone company, Card Caller Canada (CCC), under the terms of an official licensing agreement between CCC and Warner Brothers. This fact leads to the first obvious question: how did a Canadian phone company — and a private one at that — secure what may turn out to be the only rights given to produce phone cards marking the new Batman flick?

Card Caller Canada's Vice President of Marketing and Sales, Kent Deuters, believes that it was simply a case of building on past successes and being able to offer Warner Brothers some unique selling propositions.

"Recently, we've issued some impressive new phone cards," said Deuters. "The two most significant ones are a six-card set honoring the world-famous Harry Houdini and a multi-card set for the Molson Indy Races in Toronto and Vancouver. I think these programs really enhanced our credentials."

But beyond the cards themselves, Deuters believes that CCC's key competitive advantage is its retail sales network. "Charles (Zwebner, president of CCC) and I made the case to Warner that neither Bell Canada nor Sprint Canada had a retail network, or even an established rate of consumption, that was large enough to sustain and pay for such a program."

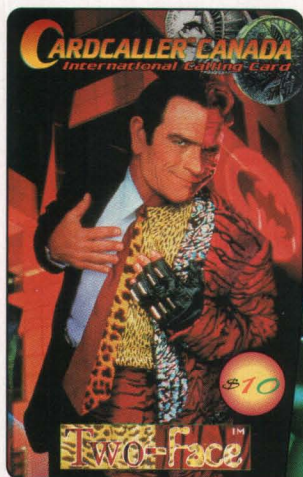

CCC, which was established in 1991 and has issued phone cards since early 1993, now has some 3,000 points of sale in Canada — and that figure could double by the end of this year.

"These Batman cards are for the utilitarian market," explained Deuters. "It's that market that gives you the kind of volumes to make a program like this work. A strictly collector-focused program would bomb."

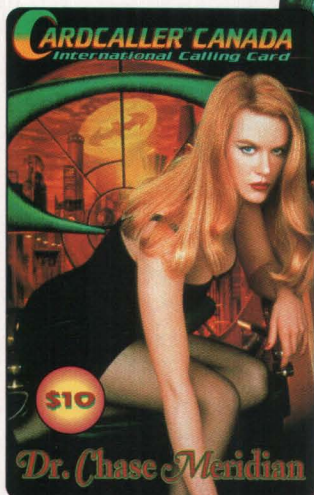

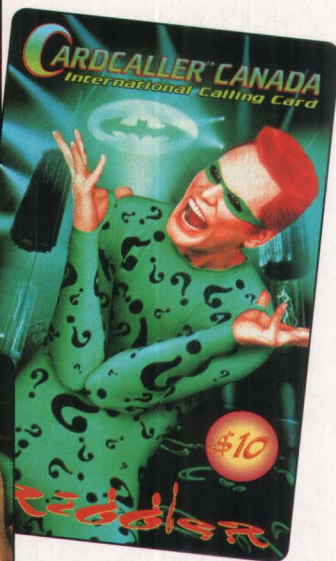

Currently, CCC retails some 30,000 cards a month through convenience and check-cashing stores and other select locations, which include 7-Eleven stores, MoneyMart check cashing stores, United Cigar Stores, TicketMaster, the CN Tower in Toronto, the West Edmonton Mall, London Drugs, and Haste Markets convenience stores.

Batman (above) and Robin (below), $10 denominations, 20,000 of each issued, July 1995.

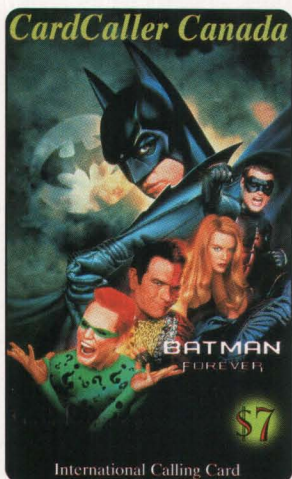

(Top to bottom) Two Face, the Riddler and Doctor Chase, $10 denominations, 20,000 of each issued, July 1995.

Though the program has been designed largely for the utilitarian market, CCC will also be issuing some special collector editions.

Phone time on the cards is rated at $.60 per minute for domestic usage within Canada, and $.90 for transborder calls.

CCC also is using the Batman cards as a launching tool for its own collector's club, details of which will be announced later.

Card produced for movie premiere in Toronto, incorporates all 5 principle characters. $7 denomination, 2,000 issued, June 1995.

BATMAN PHONE CARD DETAILS
Card	Denominations*/ selling prices	No. Issued
Gala Card - Gala Premiere of Batman in Toronto	$7	2,000 (approximately 600 were given away at the event)
Retail Edition Cards (total production approximately 200,000 cards) split evenly among 5 designs:	A total of 10 cards: 5 designs, each produced in 2 denominations and selling at face value.	Both denominations issued in the same quantities for each design: Example: Batman $10 (20,000) and Batman $20 (20,000)
- Batman (40,000) - Robin (40,000) - Dr. Chase (40,000) - Two Face (40,000) - The Riddler (40,000)
Collector Set comprised of 6 cards: same 5 designs as retail cards, plus the Gala card placed together in special packaging	5 at $10 and 1 at $7; selling price $139.	1,400 sets (approximate maximum) excellent; they are based on a pop culture icon with a huge following and the phone card program has a strong connection with the utilitarian market.

"On second thought, Robin, forget the Bat phone. With these new cards and the Batmobile, we're set!"

Happy Anniversary

We invited phone companies, suppliers and dealers to tell us what they thought of Moneycard Collector's first year of publication. Here is what some of them had to say:

"...Moneycard Collector is a significant resource reporting on events and emerging developments in the telecard market... From all of us here at ACMI, HAPPY BIRTHDAY!! We look forward to another fantastic year with Moneycard Collector."

Kevin Pirolo, President, ACMI, Memphis, Tenn.

"Happy Birthday Moneycard!! Your highly professional magazine is a major force in establishing a healthy and exciting collector market in the U.S.!"

Peter Biffar, President/CEO, Brilliant Color Cards, San Rafael, Calif.

"Congratulations on your first anniversary. You have set the standard for the entire industry with the quality of Moneycard Collector! Your innovativeness has kept you a step ahead of the competition. Or is it just a coincidence that ideas that succeed in Moneycard then appear elsewhere?"

Scott & Kathleen Shapiro, KARS Unlimited, Ormond Beach, Fla.

"Congratulations on your 1st Anniversary! Moneycard Collector is a fine publication and a leader in the phone card industry... Your readers also have been important to Future Call, and I would like to personally thank everyone who has ever purchased or used a Future Call TEC-Card... Future Call Company wishes you the greatest success in the future and may your second year be even better than the first."

William Shatner, Chairman of the Board, Future Call Company, Los Angeles, Calif.

"Happy First Anniversary!... Moneycard Collector has been instrumental in the rapid growth of the collector card division of our company as well as our company, as a whole... Keep up the good work. We're sure next year will be even better than this one!"

Peter Heitman, Senior Vice President, HT Technologies, Inc., San Francisco, Calif.

"Congratulations Moneycard Collector on your first anniversary! Moneycard Collector has truly made an impact in the debit card world...filled with appealing information that is beneficial to everyone connected with the art of producing, marketing, and collecting debit cards. LDDS WorldCom's PhonePass has unquestionably benefited from your precise reporting and editorials... Good Luck Moneycard Collector!"

Brian Young, Marketing Specialist, LDDS WorldCom, Jackson, Miss.

"...We can verify that with the help of your efforts, the collecting market for prepaid phone cards has grown substantially... We have found the major players in this new field to be dedicated, hard-working and of the highest integrity... (and) are optimistic, and indeed enthusiastic, about the future of this fledgling industry. Congratulations (and) keep up the good work!"

Don Kagin, President, ClassiCards, Tiburon, Calif.

"...Whether intensely at work in Sidney, Ohio or spending their weekends on the road promoting phone cards at coin shows, stamp fairs, and sportscard exhibitions, [Moneycard staffers] tirelessly serve as volunteer ambassadors for our hobby to the rest of the world. Nicer people you will never meet. Congratulations and thank you to the entire staff."

Robert Mish, CEO, USACard Corporation, Denver, Colo.

"Congratulations and kudos to the folks at Moneycard... We've all worked very hard for something we believe in – a new, healthy collectible in an industry just beginning to grow. Thanks again to the entire staff – you've been great!"

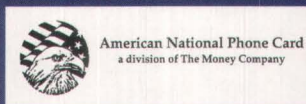

Betty & Buz, B&B Phone Cards/Trading Cards & Supplies, Alta Loma, Calif.

"Moneycard Collector magazine has been spectacular from its first issue! It embodies our phone card collecting hobby and is a powerful force in the industry. The staff is to be commended for their stellar efforts."

David Michael Eastis, Executive Vice President, AmeriVox/World Telecom Group, Inc., Mountain View, Calif.

OUR THANKS TO YOU Moneycard Collector is proud to thank and acknowledge the following advertisers who have contributed to the growth and substance of our magazine over the past year. Moneycard Collector greatly appreciates your business, and we look forward to serving as your business partner for many years to come. We offer you more than just good COMMUNICATION

The determining factors in the value of a collectible phonecard are Subject, Beauty, Quality and Rarity. Before issuing any of its cards, USA Card takes all of this into account. And, what we produce are some of the world's most collectible Telephone Cards.

More conventions have chosen USA Card as their official Phonecard producer over any other company. USA Cards have been the choice worldwide by prominent firms such as the American Banknote Company, China Eastern Airlines, and the Singapore Mint, and by other notables as celebrity artist Steve Hoskins and Jerry Rice of the World Champion San Francisco 49ers.

Limited Mintage, Attractive Image. With much sought-after issues as the June 1995 Long Beach Coin and Collectable Exposition phonecard (which tripled in value by show's end), USA Card demonstrates its continuing recognition as the Phonecard of Performance.

USA Card. The confident choice of dealers and collectors worldwide.

BABY BELL NOTES

Ameritech

Ameritech will be initiating another exciting and innovative telephone card trial. The giant RBOC will be sending approximately one million phone cards to selected residential customers. The cards will be included with customers' regular monthly statement. Each of approximately 500,000 households will receive two of these laminated paper cards, to be punched out of a cardboard carrier. The cards will have PINs, but won't be activated until the customer calls and makes a credit card payment of at least $10. A bonus may be offered if the card is activated within a short time after receipt. If this trial is successful, look for a full scale effort (13 million customers) to be made during the fourth quarter of 1995.

In Illinois, just over a quarter-million downstate households (actually, any area outside Chicago & Cook County is considered "downstate" in Illinois) will be sent cards in Champaign, Decatur, Springfield, and Peoria. An additional 20,000 households in Rockford will also receive this special mailing. Wisconsin's largest number of cards will be distributed in Green Bay and Appleton, with about 40,000 cards more going to Milwaukee.

An additional 8,000 special-edition plastic cards will be prepared, using the same artwork as the laminated cards. These special cards will be used for vending trials, promotions, and for internal distribution.

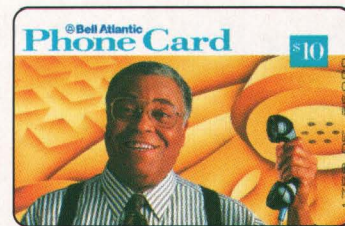

In the August Baby Bell column, I erroneously stated that all remaining Coin$aver cards had been destroyed. While it is true they are no longer being provided to retailers, it was only the Snowflake cards that were destroyed. Incidentally, less than 2,000 complete sets of the Snowflake cards are possible, based on information provided by Ameritech.

Bell Atlantic

In mid-June Bell Atlantic suddenly ended its remote memory card trials, and is now evaluating the results. This happened just after the first shipments of 1995 and James Earl Jones cards were made. Many dealers quickly sold out of their initial supply, and were surprised to discover that no more were available. This does, however, leave many tens of thousands of unsold cards in Bell Atlantic's hands. Company officials have promised complete details concerning the disposal of all remaining trial cards.

BellSouth

The $5 and $10 Welcome South remote memory cards mentioned last month are only available from a single vending machine in the new Welcome South Visitor Center in downtown Atlanta. Sales of the other Atlanta remote memory cards are doing well. They are available from a number of outlets, including vending machines and convenience stores. Meanwhile, the magnetic stripe card trials at the University of Alabama Medical Center in Birmingham (UAB) have again been extended, this time until at least the end of June.

With the upcoming Olympic Games scheduled for Atlanta in 1996, there is a very real possibility that BellSouth will be involved in issuing commemorative telephone cards for the occasion. However, VISA has the exclusive rights to the Olympic logo on ALL cards of any type produced in conjunction with the Olympics in Atlanta, including credit cards, telephone cards, and any other types of debit cards.

Look for an important announcement next month about NYNEX's prepaid phone cards.

SBC

Formerly known as Southwestern Bell, the last of the Baby Bell companies is currently in the final stages of its first-ever card issue. Complete information should be available by next month's issue. We've been assured that collectors have been taken into consideration with SBC's plans.

US WEST

By next month, there should be complete information on the cards to be issued for use in the new 16,000 payphones which are being installed in five cities across the region.

HT Technologies Announces Fine Art Cards Now Available To Collectors

'Alexander's World' Features San Francisco

©1995 Alexander's World

From first release, collectors have avidly sought the spectacular phone cards featuring the art of Alexander Chen. According to Dawn Glanz of MoneyCard Collector, "Given the artist's popularity, we hope to see more of Chen's cityscapes appearing on phone cards in the future." HT Technologies has taken heed and is announcing new Chen releases—this time featuring images of San Francisco. Following a 2-card panorama of SF's

Waterfront comes a 3-card depiction of Union Square, filled with fascinating detail and brilliant color, and capturing the spirit of San Francisco in a way only Alexander Chen can do.

This new part of "Alexander's World" will make a worthy addition to any phone card collection. And for the collector who already has Chen's New York cards, this release will be a necessary part of what may become the industry's most valued series.

Nature Comes To Phone Cards In New Releases

Busacca's Calla Lily

With this in mind, HT Technologies has announced the release of phone cards featuring nature—by artists Larry Taugher and Mark Busacca—elevating phone card art to a new level and leaving others playing "catch-up" once again.

Larry Taugher's work captures the beauty of nature so often overlooked by modern man, conveying nature's feeling of peace and serenity. The artist's meticulous attention to detail is captured in this 5-card series by HT showing animals in natural environments.

Mark Busacca's contribution, featuring elegant and graceful images of plants, presents the viewer with intricate and evocative works which are beautifully reproduced in this limited edition set featuring the bold colors and visual illusions for which Busacca is famous.

The success of these releases reflects the explosive growth of interest in fine art phone cards. They are a "must-have" for any serious collector.

New Release For Sports Series

HT Technologies and LDDS WorldCom find another collector's treasure with the issue of a phone card image of the legendary—and infamous—Chicago White Sox great, Shoeless Joe Jackson. The "Calling On History PhonePass™" series from LDDS WorldCom, Champion Sports and Premier Marketing Group continues HT's tradition of offering limited edition, and very rare, images of sports legends to phone card collectors. Given that these cards (such as the previously released Honus Wagner) utilize images which in their original formats have sold for over $600,000 the cards may represent the collector's only opportunity to possess one of these powerful sports portraits at an affordable price.

Shoeless Joe Jackson

Manilow Fans Call For Info.

HT Technologies pushes the limits of phone card collecting again by issuing the Barry Manilow International Fan Club card with BMIC and Stiletto Entertainment. Fans can receive concert and personal information about Barry Manilow when using the card to make calls. The first card, featuring a picture of Barry Manilow goes to the 2,000 most active club members. Other cards and other clubs will follow.

FRANKLY SPEAKING

SECOND FRANK & SONS' MCDONALD HOUSE SET SCORES BIG WITH COLLECTORS "It was probably the most unbelievable thing that I've ever done." That's how Frank Zamarripa, owner of Frank & Sons Trucking in Walnut, Calif., described his phone card efforts — the fabulously successful four-card Ronald McDonald House (RMH)/AmeriVox set, and now its successor produced with Premier Telecom.

The second set of cards marks the 40th anniversary of McDonald's and its partnership with Coca-Cola. Unlike the first set, however, the telephone company involved with the cards is not AmeriVox, but rather Premier Telecom utilizing AT&T services.

In the "Letters" section of this issue, David Michael Eastis of AmeriVox publicly explains the circumstances surrounding the printing of extra proof cards. This incident prompted Zamarripa to look elsewhere for producing the second set.

A total of 1,000 of the second sets were produced. "It was obvious that just 500 would have been unfair, given the level of demand," Zamarripa said.

Like the first set, each card carries five minutes of domestic phone time and the common logos, the card theme featured in the center and lightly rendered McDonald's logos forming a background pattern.

Variable elements on the cards in the upper left and right corners of the cards are: Ronald McDonald and a child's drawing of three people arm in arm; "Birdie" and the logo for Ronald McDonald House of Orange County; Hamburglar and a child's rendering of RMH in Los Angeles; and Grimace with the logo for Ronald McDonald House in Loma Linda.

The big winner in this second effort, like the first, was Ronald McDonald House. In the space of just three and one-half hours on June 14th, Zamarripa and his staff sold out the sets, generating a net profit for RMH of $32,000 and adding to the $350,000 he has raised for RMH over the past 25 years.

According to Zamarripa, some dealers were paying $100 on the spot to purchasers of the cards. "That didn't bother me a bit," he confessed. "I feel I made my money for the cause. Sure, I could have sold the sets at $100 with no problem, but I want my customers to feel they got a good deal so they'll want to come back."

Another aspect of this set that is identical with the first is that Zamarripa also produced 50 sets of 10-minute cards and sold them for $250 each, one to each dealer. "I did that as a goodwill gesture," he said. So far, it looks like dealers and collectors are holding onto these sets. To date, Moneycard Collector has not seen any published prices for this ultra-rare 10-minute set.

In his interview with Moneycard Collector, Zamarripa announced plans for his third set of cards to be issued October 21st, but thereafter he may start to limit the issues to one per year.

He concluded with some predictions for the first edition sets. "I'm a collector myself and now we're going to have 1,000 collectors with the second set chasing the 500 sets of the first issue. And this is the fun of collecting."

EXTRA POINT

OMNITEL GAINING GROUND IN PHONE

CARD RACE OmniTel may be the best-kept secret in the phone card industry... but not for long! Newly formed in February 1995, the Boston-based company gained early success with its Dunkin' Donuts cards, which were handed out to spectators at the Beanpot Shootout in historic Boston Gardens. A similar giveaway was conducted for the Boston Bruins' Sixth Annual Wives Charity Carnival card, the proceeds of which helped support the Boston Ronald McDonald House.

Sticking to their Boston roots, OmniTel recently followed up with a four-card set featuring Boston Bruin hockey star Ray Bourque. Apparently, that's just the tip of the iceberg for OmniTel's sports prepaids.

"We have cards planned for even more Boston area athletes," said OmniTel president Sean Canada. Tops on the list of future cards is sensational New England Patriots quarterback Drew Bledsoe, along with teammates Vincent Brown, Ben Coates and Vincent Brisby; Boston Bruin Cam Neeley; and Boston Red Sox superstars Jose Canseco and Mo Vaughn.

A few moments with Canada lets you know he's a true Boston sports fanatic. "There are no Celtic cards at the present time because there just aren't any players who are quite up to that level yet," he grimaces.

Bostonian or not, Canada's not foolish enough to be totally blinded if a good athlete comes to his attention. "We have one non-Boston basketball player in our stable - Larry Johnson. I wish I didn't have to say that, but it's true", he admits. "On the other hand, we do have Bourque and Neeley from the Bruins."

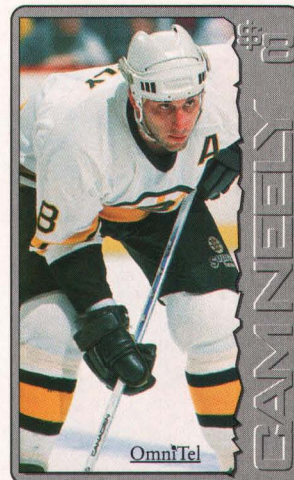

The sets will vary from the two-card Vincent Brown offering to the full complement of four cards with Bledsoe. "He's really hot in the collector market right now," Canada explained, "so we think we'll score a touchdown with his cards. We nailed down an exclusive two-year license with Drew."

The Bledsoe series will be first off the OmniTel production line. Details were sketchy as of press time, but preliminary plans called for a July release date.

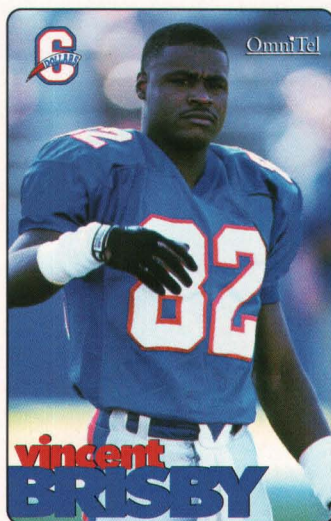

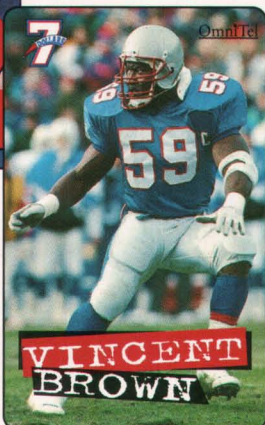

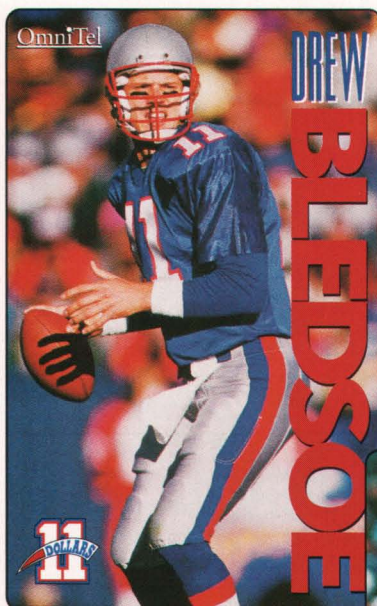

Canada also hints one might see more cards featuring Bledsoe than just straight-to-the-collectibles market sets.

"We're probably taking a little different approach than most other phone card companies," says Canada. "We're trying to match our athletes with our corporate clients for promotional purposes. For example, one of our accounts is a bank. So we're working on a deal where people who sign up with the bank will receive a Drew Bledsoe phone card. We're really trying to tie together collector and promotional interests in our cards. I don't want to give away all the details just yet, but don't be surprised if there's a lot of those kinds of deals with Drew Bledsoe, both on a local and national basis."

Only time will tell, but it seems like sooner or later the issuer will run out of local athletes - even in tradition-steeped Boston.

OmniTel, Cam Neeley, $8 denomination, July 1995.

OmniTel, (clockwise, from upper left) Drew Bledsoe $11; Vincent Brown $7; Vincent Brisby $6; Ben Coates $8. 10,000 issued of each, July 1995.

BONDS SET ON USACARD
Celebrity artist Steve Hoskins captures the spirit of fatherly advice in his "Like Father, Like Son" phone card from USACard. The new card features artwork of Bobby and Barry Bonds, holders of virtually all of the Major League Baseball father-son batting records.

In the image, Barry, the San Francisco Giants' left-fielder and one of baseball's most feared hitters, receives instruction from father Bobby, who was a superstar with the same team from 1968-74.

The $10 card, limited to a production of 3,000 pieces, was released during July, with a very limited number autographed by the baseball duo.

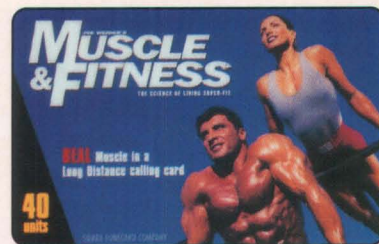

For the dealer nearest you, call (303)777-3034.

WEIDER FLEXES ON SIERRA
Two phone cards featuring body-builder Joe Weider have been produced by Sierra Fonecard. The "Joe Weider Olympia Weekend" and "Muscle & Fitness" phone cards were offered to the public via fitness magazine ads earlier this year.

The Olympia Weekend card carries 20 minutes of long distance time ($.25 per domestic minute), while the Muscle & Fitness card includes 40 minutes. Each of the cards was issued in a 5,000 quantity. The cards are individually numbered and dated.

Call (800)987-5330 to order these limited edition cards.

NAT 'TRAPS' GOLF ART Rick Jackson's "Bunker Shot" artwork is featured on a recent North American Telephone (NAT) phone card release. The inaugural offering of NAT's "Art of My Heart Series," is the first of eight cards. The next five scheduled for release are The Caddie, The Water Shot, The Lost Ball and the Desert Open. All feature golf scenes with kids.

Each card carries three minutes of phone time, and is priced at $10. A total of 1,000 was produced. Contact NAT at (813)272-7000 or fax (813)224-9111 for more information.

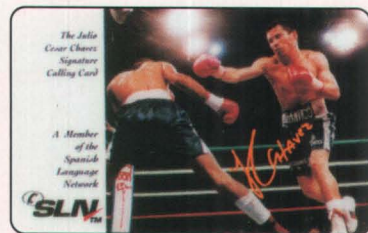

HAVEZ PUNCHES OUT NEW CARD
Telwest has released the Julio Cesar

Chavez signature calling cards. Available in both English and Spanish, the cards feature Chavez' voice prompts.

Each card includes built-in 24-hour voice mail and several other interactive features. Outbound calling is rated at $.28 per domestic minute and $.85 per minute to Mexico.

Cards are available for $10, $20, $50 and $100. A total of 20,000 cards have been produced, with an additional 1,000 issued as a special Limited Edition. Call (714)789-1022 for information.

HALL OF FAME MAKES MARINO Hall of Fame Productions has issued a phone card featuring Dan Marino of the Miami Dolphins. Two thousand phone cards, plus 500 matching lithographs were produced.

Each of the Marino phone cards includes five minutes of calling time and retails for $20, or $55 each with the matching litho. The cards were manufactured by Brilliant Color Cards, with telecommunications service provided by Teltrust.

A Tradition of Excellence and Innovation

Many companies sell prepaid telephone cards. After all, phone cards are rapidly gaining consumer popularity and have become extremely effective promotional tools for many marketers. So what makes Ameritech different?

As a Regional Bell Operating Company, Ameritech is a leader in both the telecommunications industry, with over 12 million customers in the midwest, and the prepaid phone card industry, having originated the Michigan Bell CASH CARDSM as well as the COIN$AVERSM family of telecards.

Carrying Ameritech prepaid cards is carrying a piece of tradition that reaches back over a hundred years. Tradition that includes a commitment to quality and service, along with a keen focus on customer needs. And whether it's using, collecting or promoting, Ameritech backs each of its cards with that same tradition and promise.

B&B Presents "Our Anniversary Sale"

Together with Moneycard Collector Magazine which is celebrating its first anniversary, we are celebrating our fourth anniversary at the same time. In conjunction with this great event for both of us, we are offering you "The Best in the West" greatest sale ever. First let's review our predictions from last year. We were the first to recommend AmeriVox's Coke/McD sets at $60 (today's price $700), PacBell Xmas sets at $250 (today's price $750), 125th Anniversary Upper Deck card at $50 (today's price is $175), Disney products from New Zealand (Mickey Mouse today's price is $650) and just last month we strongly recommended McDonald Corporate sets at $100 (today's price is over $200).

Betty and I thank each and everyone of you for your support and confidence in us this past year. It was great talking to each and everyone of you and meeting many of you at the trade shows during the past year, talking and watching the industry grow.

We would like to begin our new year with our greatest sale ever along with the following free offer for the next 30 days. With every order we will be giving free phone cards valued at $10 or more. With orders of $100 or more - free cards worth $20 or more, and orders $200 or more you will be able to select from a list of free phone card values to be determined based upon the size of the order.

B&B Presents "The Best in the West"

McDonald/Sprint 40th Anniv. Corporate issue 1000 2-card set. Features old time McD Restaurant and Classic Car #1. 50-min. USA time and 50-min. Int'l time. This set has already doubled in price and sold out at wholesale level in one day. We predict this to be the top new issue of '95 and will approach the '94 AmeriVox McD/Coke set in value. We are buying at 100% of issue price. Call for market price.

Disney/New Zealand Telecom - NEW 4-card Mickey Mouse set #2 in beautiful presentation folder, 1500 issue internationally only 300 available for US. We predict this to be one of the top new issues of 95. The 1st Mickey issued is now selling at $650. This new set will be even better due to the increased awareness of the U.S. market.$120 each.

McDonald/Coke So. Calif. (Frank & Son) Ronald McD 2nd issue 4-card set 1000 issue. This set created a near riot at Franks as customers lined up by the hundreds to get their set. At the close of the show the set was trading at $100 and by Saturday at $150. We were able to purchase a quantity on the secondary market, please call for market price. We also have a few sets of the 1st issue, at$650. Don't wait to purchase as the European market is already aware of this item.

PacBell LA Scene. This set has been discontinued and is a must buy at this time. Set includes the $5, $10, $20 cards. Set price$100. We also have the very rare Olvera St. Spanish sets available. Another must buy at this time. Set inc. $5, $10, $20$150 Also available is new $20 Calif. Scene and $50 Calif. Scene collector card. Call for market price

VISTA VIEW

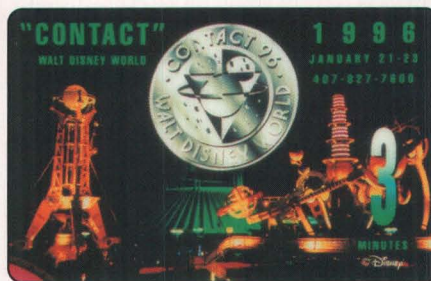

LATEST DISNEY PHONE CARD ALREADY IN ORBIT The universal appeal of Vista-United phone cards was demonstrated once again on May 27, 1995 – the opening day of the Science Fiction Convention (Sci-Fi Mega Show) in Anaheim, Calif. With 20,000 (projected) science fiction enthusiasts in attendance, Walt Disney World took the opportunity to promote its own sci-fi convention by handing out some very futuristic, promotional telephone cards.

Within a matter of minutes of the opening, convention attendees were lined up to fill out the two-page questionnaire required to obtain the new three-minute card.

The newest Vista-United telecard features a nighttime photo of the remodeled Tomorrowland City, along with a large "Contact 1996" logo. On the left side of the card is a structure that looks very much like a rocket on a launch pad, and it sits on top of the Tomorrowland Interplanetary Convention Center.

In the center of the card is the well-known Space Mountain. On the right side is the Astro 9-Orbiter ride that sits on top of the Tomorrowland Transit Authority Station (not pictured). The Disney logo is on both the front and back of the card, and the Vista-United logo is also on the reverse, along with a scratch-off which hides the PIN code.

Indeed, the cards were snapped up as if there were no tomorrow! Five thousand regular cards and 55 test cards were printed by Brilliant Color Cards for this exclusive promotion. The purpose of the card is to remind people to attend the Sci-Fi convention to be held at a Walt Disney World resort hotel in Orlando, Fla., in January 1996. For convention information and reservations call (407) 827-7600.

Vista-United Telecommunications, Contact 1996, 3 minutes of phone time, 5,000 issued, telecommunication services by AT&T, May 1995.

At least one man was standing in the aisle offering up to $10 each for the cards, and by the end of the convention, dealers were paying $25 each. Within two weeks, an auction on CompuServe brought over $150 – a pretty stellar performance for a promotional card!

And while this performance may sound more like science fiction than fact, it is simply another example of the extraordinary popularity of Vista-United phone cards (see Vista United story in June Moneycard Collector). It is the universal and timeless fascination with the future, coupled with the unmatched Disney imagination that places this phone card in such high orbit.

This "Contact '96" card may follow the footsteps of the Disneyana and Telecom magic promotional cards, which have skyrocketed to an orbit seen clearly only through the Hubble Telescope. Vista-United is a solid addition to any serious phone card collection.

QUICK TAKES

CONGO COLLECTIBLES LDDS, Pepsi and Paramount Pictures have joined forces to produce the industry's largest promotion – 15 million phone cards – in the Discover Congo Prizes program. Based on the highly publicized summer movie "Congo," the promotion began June 1. LDDS provided the 15 million PhonePass cards, as well as the 800-number service for the promotion.

Special removeable labels were placed on four million Pepsi products nationwide. Winning labels revealed an 800-number and a seven-digit code. In addition to the 15 million PhonePass cards, prizes included trips to Africa, hiking boots and Congo T-shirts.

CEREAL CALLS It's not a toy they're looking for, but many adult collectors are returning to their childhood days when they search cereal boxes for the prize inside. This time the prize is a new five-minute phone card from Sprint and General Mills. Ten million of the cards have been inserted in specially marked boxes of Basic 4, Raisin Nut Bran, Total Raisin Bran and three kinds of Oatmeal Crisp.

The promotion will be flagged on the front of each cereal box, with the entire back panel dedicated to details about the giveaway. The prepaid cards will be advertised in national television commercials throughout the summer, and consumers will also be informed through coupons inserted in local newspapers during August. The promotion runs through September and is expected to generate more than one hundred million brand impressions from the cereal boxes alone.

With the giant giveaway, Sprint has renamed its prepaid cards "Spree Instant Fōncard." Spree will be available for sale in major retail chains throughout the U.S.

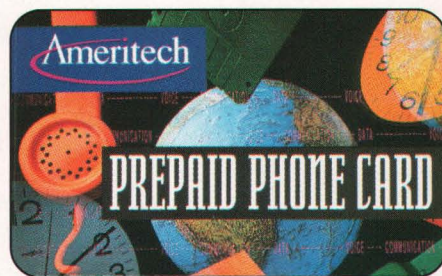

OKLAHOMA CITY AID A charity auction held at the American Tele-Card Expo in San Antonio helped raise $1,500 for the Red Cross in Oklahoma City. Show promoter Laurette Veres, and Acme Telecards' Bruce Harmon received donations of cards from dealers, manufacturers and even collectors.

Among the most notable cards auctioned were a matching numbered "Big Hurt" set from Ameritech; a 10-card Judy Garland set from TeleWorld; a four-card NHL Ray Bourque set from OmniTel; a diamond-studded card of Super Model Linda Sobek (believed to be the first diamond-studded phone card) by Gem International; and a Harley Davidson card from AmeriVox (the only licensed U.S. Harley Davidson card).

A big thanks goes out to all who donated cards – especially the collectors who felt that this was a great cause to which they wanted to contribute.

AMERITECH CARDS
ARRIVE 'UNLOAD' Ameritech's new prepaid phone cards, which were inserted in 500,000 residential phone bills during July (see "Baby Bell Notes" on page 16), should bring some much-needed phone card exposure to the general public in the Midwest.

The trial cards have been mailed, along with educational advertising, to customers in Illinois and Wisconsin. Unlike typical prepaids, customers must "load" the cards by using their MasterCard or VISA. Cards can be charged with between $10 and $40 worth of phone time, which is decremented at $.40 per minute. Like pre-loaded cards, however, each card has its own unique PIN code.

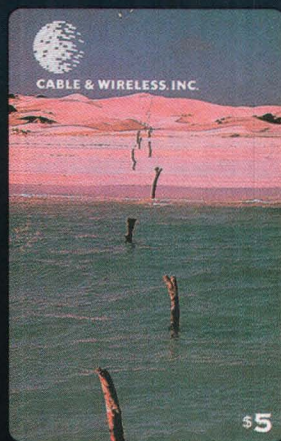

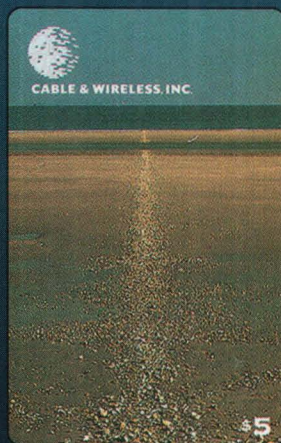

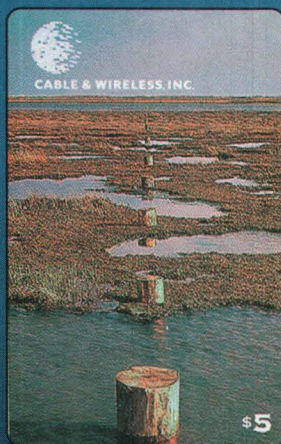

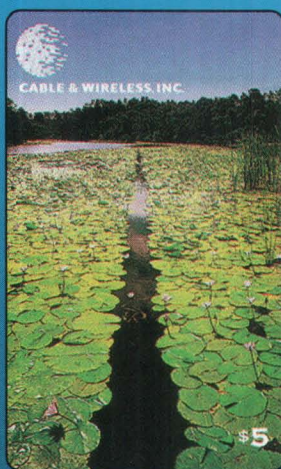

According to Ameritech officials, it is possible that the trial could be expanded to include vending machines in the Midwest. The same designs would be applied to plastic cards for the vending machines.

HALLMARK DISCOUNTS CARDS Hallmark Cards is offering the remaining inventory of its Long Distance Greetings cards at discounted prices. According to company officials, the product closeout should allow for a greater number of consumers to try the product, while enabling Hallmark to develop other innovative new ideas. The phone/greeting cards will not be discontinued, but will be repackaged for security, and repositioned as giftable, limited-time promotions which tie in with other Hallmark retail offers.

CARDLESS SPREE Sprint and EDS, have entered into an agreement to make Sprint prepaid calling vouchers available through EDS's automated teller machines. The new channel of distribution will allow consumers to purchase a Sprint prepaid calling voucher using their debit card or credit card at ATMs deployed by EDS at bank and retail locations.

Consumers will perform the transaction simply by selecting the Sprint icon displayed on the menu screen and determining the value desired. The ATM will issue a paper voucher to the consumer that provides the same information found on the back of plastic Spree cards.

God Street Wine

Was This America's First Interactive Phone Card?

By Murray Church

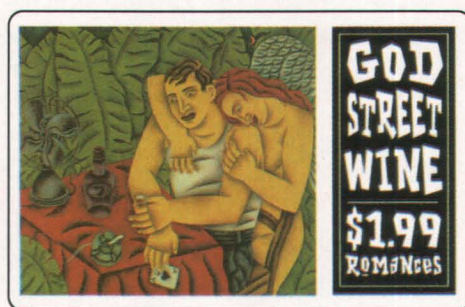

Collectors interested in cards representing “firsts” in the industry may want to pursue the “God Street Wine - $1.99 Romances” card. It might very well turn out to be the very first custom interactive card ever produced in the U.S. — a fact that we’re asking our readers to verify or refute.

When the card first came into my hands and I read about its features, I chuckled to myself about how this particular card was so feature-laden that it was just like a beautiful car. And I just knew I would have to take it for a spin to really appreciate it!

The menu on the back of the card was so varied it was tantalizing: cuts from a record album, God Street Wine’s “$1.99 Romances”; news about the band’s tour dates; the God Street Wine (GSW) Quote of the Week; and best of all — “Other God Street Wine information.”

The PIN on the card had already expired on my card, but a couple of hours after contacting Doug Hahn, president of the card’s carrier, Earthline Communications, he had reactivated it and I was ready to dial in. It was an impressive experience.

Earlier Hahn had explained the particulars of the card: 10,000 printed; 8,000 given to registered fan club members, 2,000 to the radio and music industry; 10 minutes of free time paid for by the band, Eleven Records and Geffen Records; rechargeable; released September 1994.

God Street Wine $1.99 Romances, Earthline Communications/Geffen Records, 10,000 issued, 10 minutes of phone time, September 1994

As proud as he is of the card, Hahn does not claim to have issued the first messaging card. “I think you have to give that one to MCI,” he said. “I believe they actually began offering weather reports and sports scores as part of their credit card product as early as 1991.” Then he added —

“But I think we took the whole idea to a new level with this custom and truly interactive product.”

One of the wonders of this card is that from the date of issue its menu offerings have been kept fairly current — a fact not been lost on the fans. “It’s really been a blast,” said Hahn. “You’ve got a hard core fan group out there and they’re calling in every week to our service bureau to recharge. And they comment on it: ‘This card’s real cool’ and so on.

“Some are so in love with the interactive product it’s only after the fourth or fifth recharge that they think to ask ‘Oh, is this a phone card too?’ Some of the fans even know our customer service people on a first-name basis.” The card can be used in the U.S. and from 28 other countries. To date, most of the calls have originated from England.

According to Don Maggi, agent for the band from McGee Entertainment, “God Street Wine doesn’t get a lot of press, so they needed to be able to tell their fans where to go to see them. We also were looking for a new way to distribute the music in lieu of a compact disc.”

Ever since that time, it has become what one might call an “electronic family.” One band member even posts his weekly golf scores, according to Maggi.

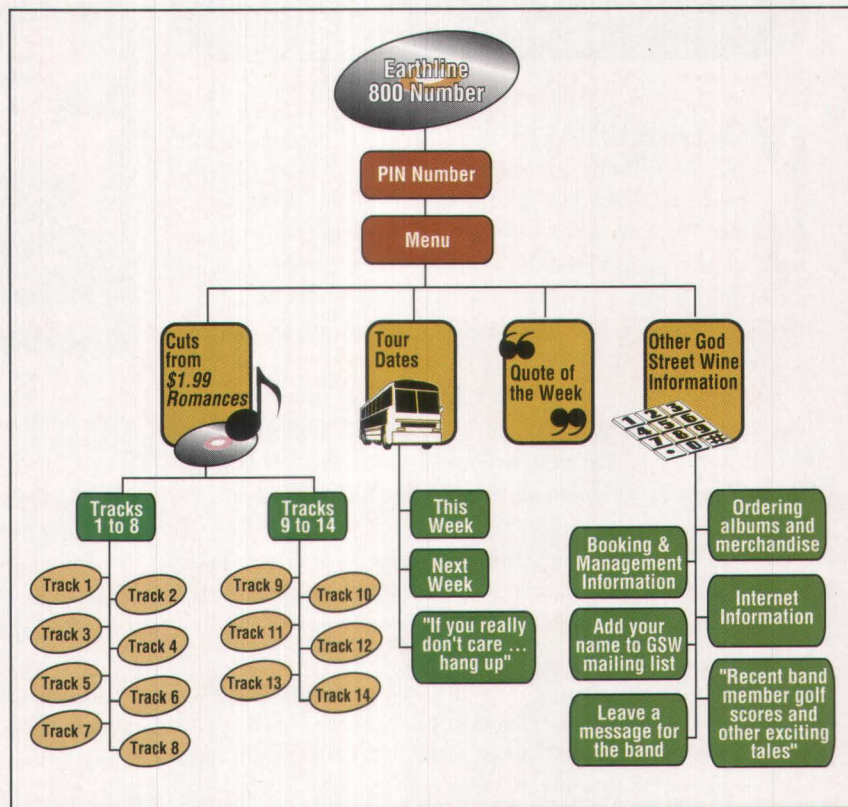

Is this truly the first American interactive card? If you are certain of one that predates it, let us know.

"The fans just love it," he explained, "because it's really dynamic. The band members themselves record the content and can change it from on the road. Fans can even leave voice mail messages for the band."

All was not smooth and simple when the card was first issued. "When the cards went out, they were sent with full instructions on a piece of 8 1/2 x 11 paper," Maggi recalled, "But kids don't read anymore, and they ended up swamping the customer service lines."

Maggi says the feedback has been useful to the band's concert and recording plans. "We report to them which is the most popular song or most popular part of the interactive pieces. Naturally," he chuckled, "the least popular feature is getting in touch with band management."

Maggi is a little surprised by the growing notoriety of the card. "Ironically, it was never intended to be the first interactive phone card – just a new medium to distribute the music instead of on compact disc. The response has been unbelievable and we've now got some new ideas in the works." MC

RED HOT CARDS

COCA-COLA HEATS UP SUMMER CARD COLLECTING. It's difficult to follow up on a blockbuster issue, but it looks like The World of Coca-Cola has some more red hot cards this summer. The popular Coca-Cola attraction recently released the second and third of its limited series of prepaid phone cards — "Coca-Cola Red Hot Summer '95" and "America's First National Convention of Soda Jerks."

Produced to commemorate the 1995 corporate promotion, the Red Hot Summer cards feature the famous contoured bottle and the sunglass-wearing sun icon drinking a Coke. The text includes the line "The Hottest Spot in Atlanta."

A limited edition of 5,000 individually numbered cards were produced, with each card packaged in a special full-color laminated collector's case. Each card includes 10 minutes of Sprint long distance calling time.

The Soda Jerks card was produced to commemorate the national convention held in Omaha, June 14-18. A limited edition of just 2,500 of the cards was issued, with each registered convention member receiving a free card.

Like the Red Hot Summer cards, the Soda Jerks pre-

Score Board/Sprint, The World of Coca-Cola, Red Hot Summer '95, 10 minutes of phone time, 5,000 issued, $10 retail price, June 1995.

paid include 10 minutes of calling time, carry a July 1, 1996 expiration date, and are packaged in a laminated collector's case.

The front of the convention card features artwork from a 1927 ad showing a Coca-Cola serving tray with a soda jerk image, along with the name and date of the convention.

Priced at $10, both of the new Coke cards will only be available through The World of Coca-Cola pavilion in Atlanta.

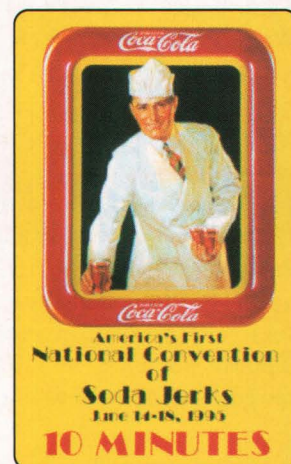

The World of Coca-Cola has been Atlanta's most popular indoor attraction since opening in 1990. Nearly five million visitors have experienced this unique pavilion, which showcases the world's largest collection of Coca-Cola memorabilia, numerous interactive displays, theaters, and a soda fountain unmatched anywhere.

The first international Coca-Cola card was produced in Japan in 1985. Since that time, hundreds of cards have been produced bearing the most recognized trademark in the world.

The first issue from The World of Coca-Cola, "Springtime in Atlanta," was released during April 1995. The card immediately skyrocketed to the top of "America's Most Wanted" list, where it ranks number two this month.

All other Coke cards previously produced in the U.S. were created as premiums or for specific promotions, and were not available for purchase in the open market.

The fourth card from the organization — the Alfa Romeo Owner's Club, "Festa di Atlanta" was scheduled for release on July 21. Details about the card will be included next month. The World of Coke will continue to issue a limited series of cards each year to commemorate various events and sponsorships.

AMERICA'S MOST WANTED

This month's listings are dominated by corporate cards, with the majority of interest centered on difficult-to-obtain McDonald's and Coca-Cola cards. Just like the first of the big speculative runs (Vista United's Disney) earlier this year, the big money is concentrated on two or three issues, while others went begging.

The first to hit the street was the limited-issue (1,000 sets) Sprint McDonald's 40th Anniversary. Instead of being able to tell everyone about their 40th Anniversary with a mintage of 20,000 or so at a low price, now only an elite few will hoard them away.

Next came the World of Coke, a 2,500 mintage issue. Again, the price jumped as speculators bought out the inventory. Now a collector must pay $100 to buy the issue. Then the McDonald's Kauai NAT card was issued. With NAT acting as both the issuer and dealer, the price rose even before it was sold out.

The most frenzied activity occurred when Frank and Sons released its second set of Ronald McDonald House cards (1,000 issued; see story on page 18). They were worth at least double the issue price on the day of release, and are now spiraling upward into the stratosphere, chasing last year's AmeriVox set.

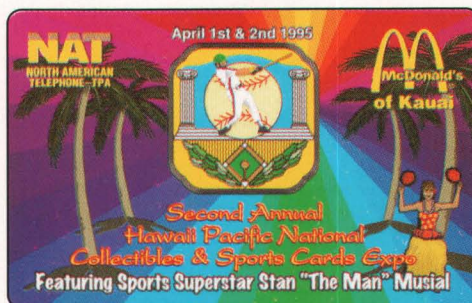

If you simply must have a McDonald's card, the most appetizing buy is HT Technologies' Azalea Festival set of two. One thousand five-unit cards, and 4,000 10-unit cards were produced, with approximately 4,000 going to Muskogee for the Festival. The cards are priced at $10 each, and over 600 sets are in the hands of dealers — not speculators. One interesting consequence of all of this is that many much rarer cards are — at least for now — out of the spotlight and can be bought at excellent prices.

1 SPRINT MCDONALD'S 40TH ANNIVERSARY SET The artificially low mintage of this two-card set will mean they will be squirreled away from the "real" collectors. Only 1,000 made. Better hurry!

2 SPRINT WORLD OF COKE "SPRINGTIME IN ATLANTA"

The beginning of a series (see story on page 46), hopefully designed so the price doesn't skyrocket out of the reach of the average collector.

3 NAT MCDONALD'S KAUAI Issued along with a companion Sprint card at the Hawaii Pacific Collectibles and Sports Card Expo, this colorful three-unit card benefited the local Ronald McDonald House.

4 SNET RONALD MCDONALD HOUSE CHARITY CARD

Southern New England Telephone (SNET) is Connecticut's home phone system and it's an old-timer. SNET preceded Bell Telephone. This McDonald's five-unit Children's Charities card is a good one to pick up.

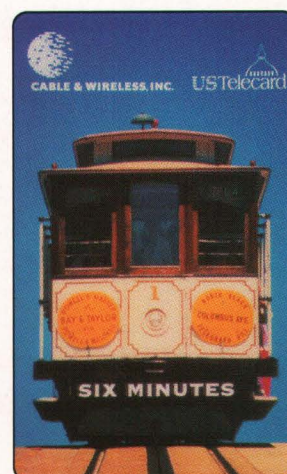

5 CDG AT&T ENTERPRISE MESSAGING CARD

Enterprise Messaging must be "telephone-speak." Though a little plain in design, this $10 promotional card should partially satisfy the AT&T collectors who have been inactive for so long. Only 3,000 made.

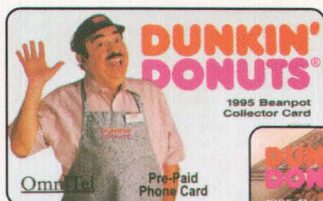

6 CABLE AND WIRELESS CABLE CAR

One of the world's largest telecommunications companies is just beginning in telecards in the U.S. This particular image, by Jennifer Wills of Brilliant Design, is one of the best of the year. Several of Cable's recent cards should win design awards. This one is very collectible with a mintage of only 500, so act quickly! Initially produced for the U.S. Telecard Association meeting at San Francisco.

7 LIBERTY $9.99 HOLOGRAM Now here's an interesting topic to collect: one of each denomination, from one unit on up. Double credit for the $9.99 denomination. This is an old card, the only hologram ever produced by Quest. The graphics are vivid and it's enjoying a resurgence in popularity.

8 OMNITEL DUNKIN' DONUTS.

I really can't figure out why this one is so popular. Maybe it's the appeal of Fred the Baker, or the sentimentality of the Boston Gardens. Or maybe, all the cards are being bought by police officers on a donut break.

9 SPRINT/CLASSIC ASSETS II EMMITT SMITH HAWAII ERROR CARD This Hawaii show card from February has a mintage of only 500 and will be a good one for investment. I wonder how this kind of error could get by everybody. It's hard NOT to spot the missing Sprint logo on the front of the card. The great number of overseas Sprint collectors added to lots of Emmitt Smith fans should make this one hot.

10 FUTURE CALL STARFLEET ACADEMY SHOW CARD A

A two-way tie for 10th place.

Originally produced for the International Phonecard Expo in San Francisco, the first Future Call show card could be the start of something big. Nicely done and reasonably priced.

HT/LDDS MCDONALD'S AZALEA FESTIVAL In addition to the Golden Arches, this 10-unit card features the logos of WalMart and three others on the reverse. It should be widely available to collectors for several months. Recommended as a low-priced McDonald's card. Also recommended as a 5- and 10-unit set (1,000).

CARS ON CARDS

ISSUERS 'OFF TO RACES' WITH PHONE CARDS

Welcome to a new Moneycard feature for all those car fanatics out there. My real name is Roy Query, but to most I'm simply known as "Motorhead Roy."

As my moniker suggests, I am a collector of automobile, auto racing and auto related phone cards. I emphasize the word "collector" because I am precisely and only that. I do not deal in these cards; therefore, everything you read in this column will be from a collector's viewpoint. I'm in it for the fun and buy my cards from dealers or trade with other collectors.

With the Indy Car racing circuit in full swing, it makes sense to begin with a couple of existing Indy card issues, along with a new one.

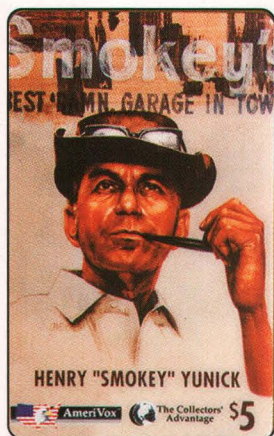

In the past, there have been relatively few Indy Car-type phone cards. One of the oldest I am aware of is a Japanese issue of 50 units from NTT. This is a confusing card, not because it boldly proclaims INDY 500 and features the Indy wing/wheel/flags logo. Nor because it shows car #30, the 1990 Domino's Pizza/Dutch Boy Paint Indy car driven by Arie Luyendyk, who ultimately won that year.

The confusing part is that in smaller lettering beneath the text "INDY 500" is printed "New Sporty Casual Wear," "Indianapolis 500 Mile Race" and "The Greatest Brand in Racing." There is no obvious answer as to what the card is promoting.

A beautiful, unique two-card set issued by AmeriVox with Collector's Advantage features Henry "Smokey" Yunick and his famed Hurst side-car Indianapolis racer from 1964. One thousand of these sets of two $5 cards were issued on November 5, 1993.

The first card features a beautiful montage painting of Smokey with his ever-present hat and pipe, along with his name and fabled "Best damn garage in town" (Daytona Beach) wording superimposed overhead.

The second card is a photo of the radical Hurst (Shifter) sponsored side-car which encapsulated the driver in a pod hung between the left-side wheels and separate from the normal rear-engined race car bodywork. All 1,000 sets were individually serial numbered and autographed by Yunick on a gold foil carrier and placed in a large sealed window envelope for display.

AmeriVox (Collector's Advantage), Smokey Yunick, $5 denomination, 1,000 issued, November 1993.

LDDS, Pennzoil two-card set (Chicago promotion), 10,000 issued, 20 units of phone time, July 1994.

A third set of relatively obscure cards was issued for the New Mexico-based Galles Racing Team by WorldConnect Communications in Pleasanton, Calif. The three cards are packaged in window envelopes, with each carrying a face value of $10 and 20 units of phone time. The photographic fronts feature Mexican driver Adrian Fernandez in the #10 Galles team's red and green 1994 Tecate (Mexican beer)/Quaker State sponsored car.

One card shows the team skillfully executing a pit stop, while the second pictures the car hurtling through a corner. In the upper right corner there is a photo of a helmeted driver. The third is an autographed card.

A very generic Indy-racer card was issued by the now defunct TeleMax company. Due to the exorbitant licensing fees and numerous hoops an issuer must jump through to produce a genuine, licensed Indianapolis or NASCAR racing card, TeleMax kept their costs down by using fairly plain artwork of an Indy-type race car.

The 1994 issue card came in a window envelope and in a $5 denomination. There were 10,000 cards issued.

A limited edition two-card set from Pennzoil includes the Pennzoil #11 Indianapolis car (Series C) featuring driver Teo Fabi, as well as their #30 NASCAR Pontiac stock car (Series S) with Michael Waltrip.

The cards were basically a Chicago-area promotional tool for Pennzoil. LDDS was the carrier and the quantity for each was 10,000 cards, with 20 units of phone time. The combination of photography/sandwiching and artwork makes a wonderfully vibrant card for any collection.

Recently, I have seen another version of this card. One-hundred thousand of them suddenly appeared in the Detroit area. The fronts are exactly the same as the Chicago cards, with the backs only slightly different (10 units).

A beautiful new card has been produced to commemorate the revival of the Miami Grand Prix in 1994. It features gorgeous graphics of Al Unser Jr.'s Marlboro Mercedes-Benz Penske racer from 1994 — his championship year. In front of a waving checkered flag and beneath these two graphic elements are the words "1995 Grand Prix of Miami Presented By Toyota." This card's 20 units represent 40 minutes of domestic long distance calling time.

Introduced in Miami on March 3, 1995, at the Miami Grand Prix in an issue of 2,500 serial-numbered cards, this is one of the best looking championship-car phone cards I've seen. It is still available for $20 per card and may be ordered directly from the issuer, Corporate Communications Group Inc., New World Tower, 100 North Biscayne Boulevard, Suite 1200, Miami, FL 33132; (800)488-2623.

A springtime promotion by Valvoline Oil offered a very nice looking five-minute calling card with the purchase of a case of motor oil. The front has three photographs superimposed over each other: a new Valvoline Indy-car racer over Valvoline uniformed team driver Robby Gordon, over a larger image of the breathtaking start of the Indy 500.

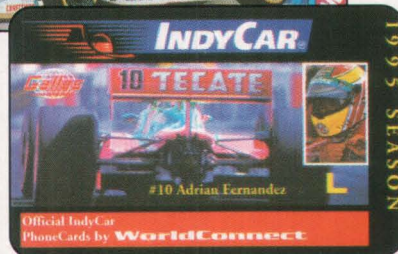

That's about it for the initial installment from Motorhead Roy. Comments in care of Moneycard Collector are welcomed. I cannot promise to answer personal letters but I'll do my best to answer those questions — as best as I can — that will be of interest to other collectors.

The Classic Phone Card Tradition Continues!

Classic presents its latest phone card release, a stunning five-card set showcasing basketball's biggest attraction, Shaquille O'Neal. Each card presents Shaq on a captivating, high-quality phone card to bring you "The Diesel" like never before!

This special item includes a $2 phone card to commemorate each of Shaq's two playoff appearances, and a $33 phone card as a tribute to Shaquille's outstanding collegiate career at LSU. We then added cards of $5, $10, and $25 to round out this incredible offer.

Only 5,000 sequentially numbered Shaq phone card sets have been produced. This amazing collectible item won't last long, so make your Shaq Attack to your local hobby store and pick up your Shaquille O'Neal phone card set today!

Classic's Assets Tradition: Three Consecutive Sellouts!

The idea behind Classic's Assets trading cards is rather simple: Provide a quality product with a built-in value.

So we included Sprint Prepaid FONCARDSSM in Assets, and we guaranteed a FONCARD, valued up to $1,000, in every pack. The response was overwhelming, as Assets sold out instantly and left people clamoring for more.

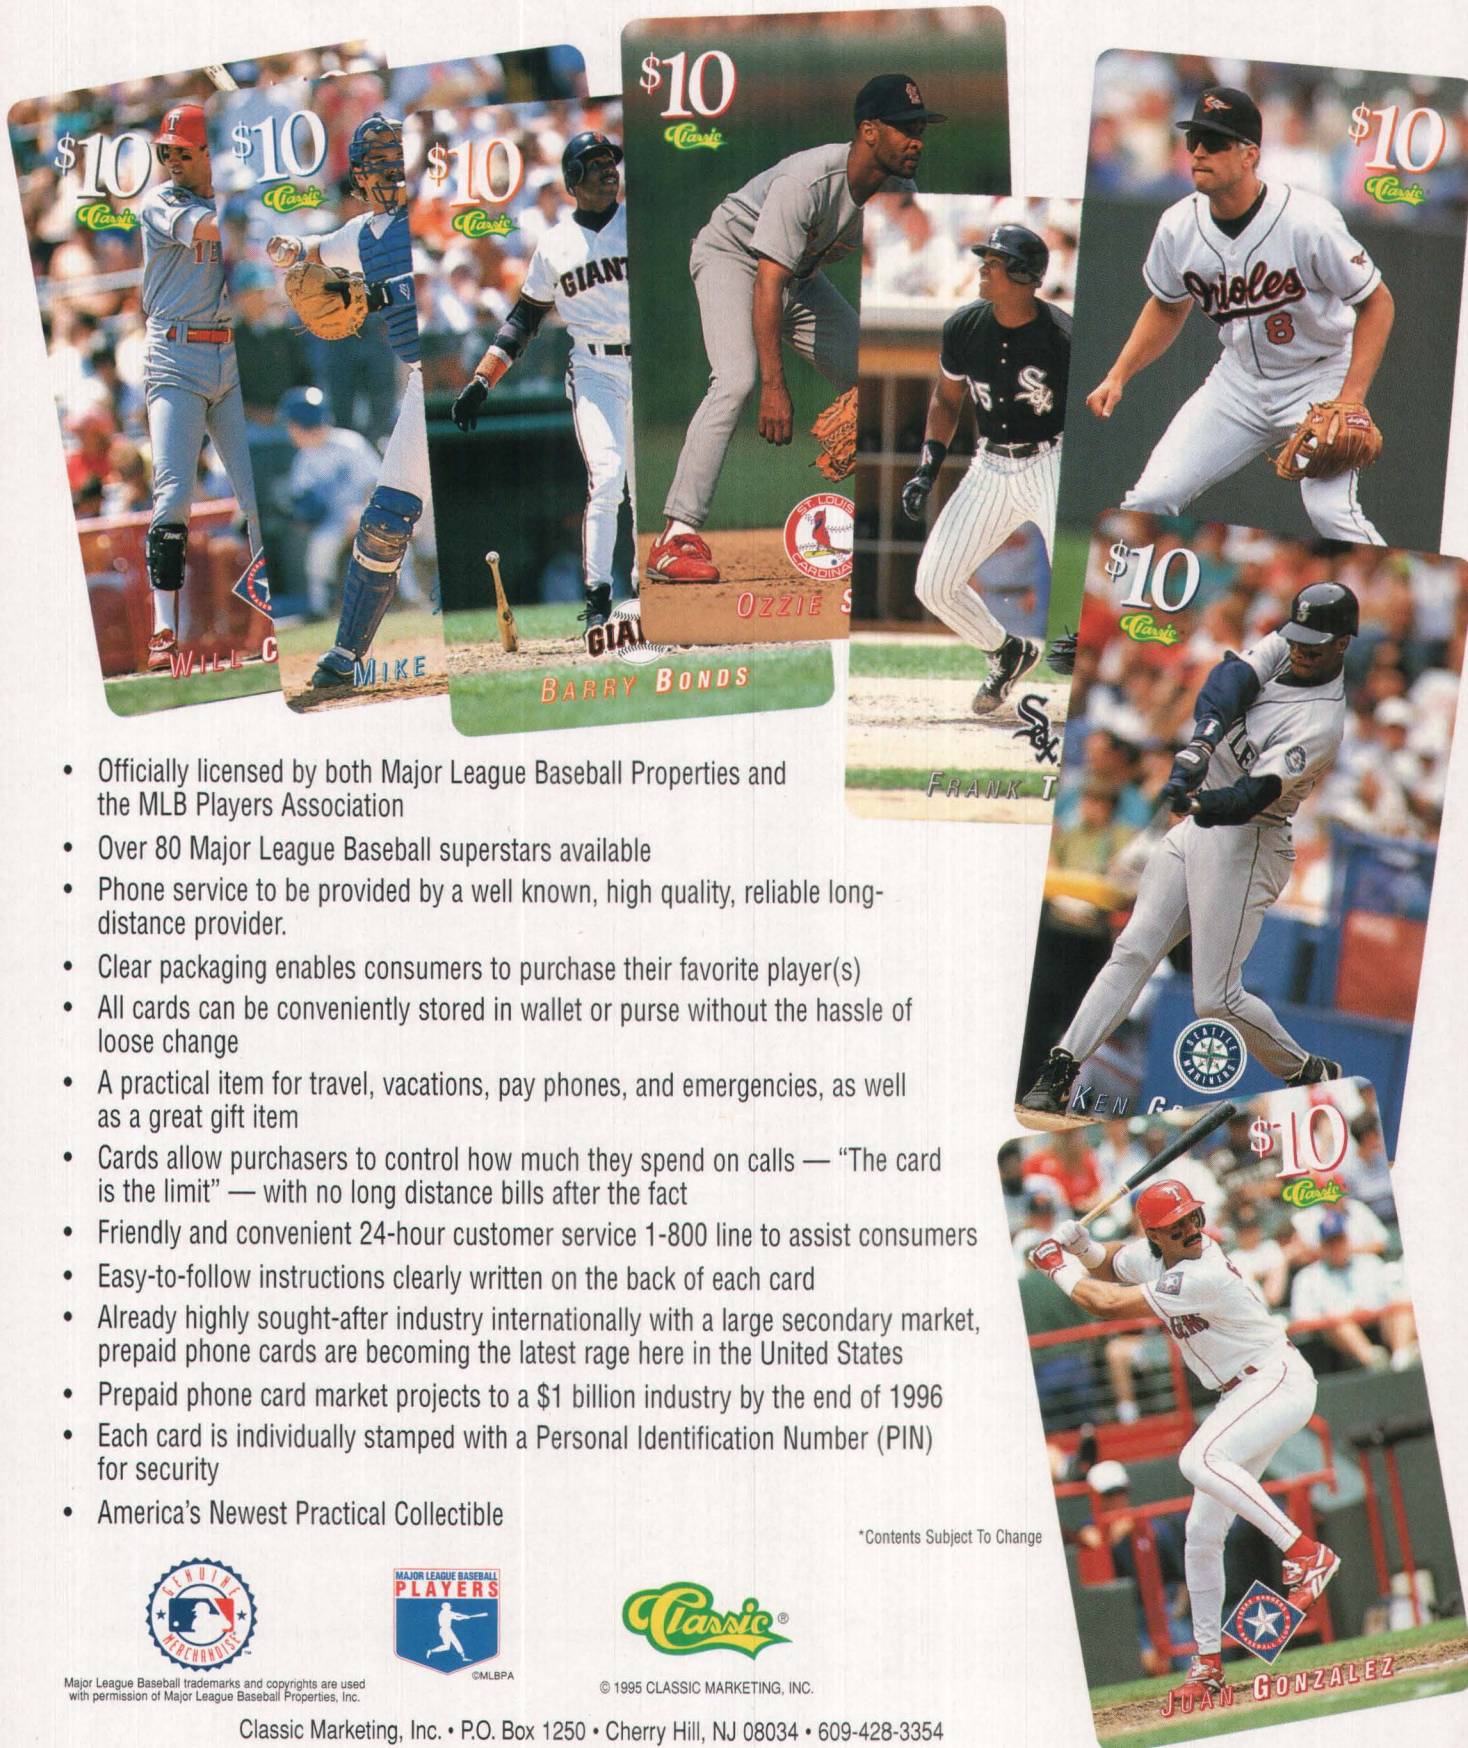

Since the introduction of Assets, Classic has doubled the value of the FONCARDS, up to $2,000, in Assets II. Again, a sellout. We satisfied the appetite of racing fans with Racing Assets. Sellout number three.

In July, Classic will release Assets Gold. Like its predecessors, Assets Gold features the world's greatest athletes, with a Sprint Prepaid FONCARD GUARANTEED in every pack. A fourth straight sellout is just around the corner.

CORPORATE CORNER

This month, Sony heads the list of new promotional cards. Here's the scoop! Sony and PromoTel kicked off the promotion on July 1 with 1.3 million five-minute phone cards. The cards were inserted in specially marked multi-packs of VHS tapes, audio tapes, 3.5 diskettes and AA battery packs. The phone card bears the Sony logo and is laminated on cardboard.

A bonus with the five-minute card is an order form enabling the consumer to purchase one of three different 40-minute cards, all individually numbered to 3,500. The 40-minute cards are 30-mil plastic and feature the following three images, all with the Sony logo: an amplifier; a compact disc player; and a funky looking image of the statues on Easter Island wearing headphones. This will probably be one of the hottest promotions of the summer, so be looking for it.

Yoo Hoo brand chocolate drink is in the midst of a promotion scheduled to end October 31, or until supplies are depleted. Yoo Hoo is offering four different 10-minute cards – Yogi Bear, Fred Flintstone, Rosie the Robot, and Space Ghost Coast to Coast. I haven't seen the cards yet, but Yoo Hoo has set up a toll-free number (800)95-YOO-HOO, which explains the procedure for obtaining the premiums. Collectors will need six proof-of-purchase seals from bottles or cartons and $1.50 for each card requested. On a 3 x 5 card print your name and address and the name of the card that you would like. Cash register receipts are not required. Then send everything to: Yoo Hoo Phone Card, P.O. Box 3140, Elgin, IL 60121.

Omnitel has been busy cranking out promotional cards and just recently created what is believed to be the world's smallest phone card. Four-thousand phone card/keychains were produced for Shipyard Beer, one of the largest micro-breweries in the Northeast. The mini phone cards were distributed at local bars and restaurants.

The telecard is encased in plastic and is one-third the size of a full-sized card. It is a remote memory card with five minutes of phone time, and cards are individually numbered on the back to 4,000.

Attached to this mini-phone card is a handy keyring. Now when you leave home and suddenly remember you have to make a call and you don't have any change, all will seem right with the world because you have a keychain phone card.

Also from Omnitel this month is a five-card set produced for BRANDWEEK magazine, a publication covering product recognition, merchandising and licensing. These cards were produced for the International Licensing Industry Merchandisers Association (LIMA) annual convention.

The brightly colored cards feature the Licensing '95 text, along with the logos of 20th Century Fox, Sony Signatures, Turner Home Entertainment, BRANDWEEK magazine, and the LIMA convention. The cards include 10 minutes of phone time and are individually numbered up to 1,000.

As you can see, promotional cards are starting to pop up everywhere – from grocery to audio/video stores, restaurants, newspapers, and just about everywhere in between. Until, next month, keep your eyes open, and above all, have fun collecting!

HAWAII
REMEMBERS
'HAWAII 5-0'

Phone Cards Hawaii
has recently released two new prepaid calling cards – Hawaii's Finest and Holistic Centers of the Pacific.

The Hawaii's Finest/HPD Shield card brings back memories of the popular "Hawaii 5-0" television series. Featuring the HPD shield over the famous Diamond Head background, it was produced for one of the island's sportscard and collectible stores, whose owner is a retired Honolulu Police officer. The card includes five units of time, and numbers 1,000 in quantity.

The second card was produced for the Holistic Centers of the Pacific, and represents the image of a free-spirited person with a healthy mind and body achieved through holistic methods. It serves as both a membership and pre-paid calling card, and is included in the center's membership package. There are 10 units of time on each card, and 500 were issued.

Call (808)847-7015 or fax (808)595-7191 for additional information.

CDG ISSUES COLORFUL CARD Memories of our childhood are elicited by CDG's recent private issue for Crayola. The cards feature the familiar image of a box of coloring crayons, along with the child-like scrawling, "10 minutes free long distance calling."

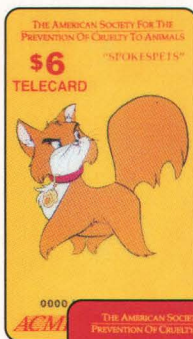

Five hundred of the prepaid phone cards were produced

PTI CELEBRATES 50TH BIRTHDAY OF CHINA Prepaid Telecommunications International has produced a two-piece set commemorating the 50th anniversary of the recovery of Taiwan from Japan.

Issued for exclusive sale by FuChin International, the cards carry a $5 denomination and a $.50 per minute long distance rate. A total of 1,000 sets was produced for the birthday commemoration.

Call PTI at (305)670-1920 for additional details.

A CMI IS KIND TO ANIMALS Destined to become an instant sell-out, ACMI's new cards for the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals (ASPCA) feature the organization's Spokespets.

Handed out at the June 5 ASPCA convention at Walt Disney World, the three-card inaugural set features a sassy cat and a lovable dog character developed by a major motion picture studio.

Each of the delightful cards comes in $6 and $20 denominations, issued in quantities of 2,000 and 200, respectively. Contact ACMI at (901)363-2100 for information.

B & J OFFERS JAPANIMATION CARDS B & J Telecard and Central Park Media have combined two of the hottest markets – prepaid phone cards and Japanese animation – to produce a set of 10 limited edition phone cards featuring characters from CPM's U.S. Manga Corps and Anime 18 videocassette releases.

The 10-card series is sequentially numbered, with each card including five minutes of prepaid calling time. Four of the cards commemorate the Anime Expo held during June/July and were sold at the actual convention. The remaining six cards are available for purchase at $5 each. A limited number of 10-card collector sets, including all four show cards, are available for $125 per set.

PHONLYNX CARDS BENEFIT 'JERRY'S KIDS' Jerry Lewis' famous caricature is featured on a new MDA card from PhonLynx. One of two cards issued in support of the Muscular Dystrophy Association, the Jerry Lewis card includes 41.6 minutes of time and retails for $25 ($.60 per minute).

The second card, a $10 denomination pre-paid, pictures the simple MDA logo and Muscular Dystrophy text over a granite background. It carries 16.6 minutes of long distance time.

All cards are rechargeable at $.33 per minute. A total of 5,000 of the cards was issued.

A percentage of all sales will be donated to the national charity. Contact PhonLynx at (800)698-9950 or fax (215)698-2851 to order.

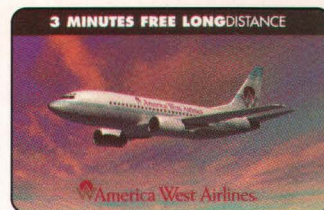

AMERICA WEST FLIES WITH ACMI America West and ACMI have teamed up to create an innovative customer service response program using phone cards.

The "MORE CARE PACK" is a booklet with five telecards, which are used to enhance passenger satisfaction after changes in scheduling, misconnected flights or when other significant irregular operations occur. In the past, the airline has allowed passengers to use its phones when such an occasion arose, but the More Care Pack allows passengers the freedom to make calls from any touch-tone phone.

The phone cards include three minutes of initial domestic calling time, and are rechargeable at ACMI's normal $.25 per minute rate. The initial issue quantity on the cards was 50,000.

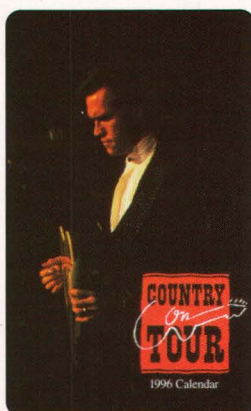

Call ACMI at (901)363-2100 for information.

COUNTRY GOES PHONE CARDS GTS, DoubleTake Publishing and Southern Exposure have joined forces to create the first in a series of licensed phone cards featuring country music stars.

The Randy Travis PhoneCard is being used to increase overall sales of the Country On Tour 1996 Calendar. The cards are being offered as a joint package to selected retailers nationwide, as well as to country music fans through direct marketing efforts nationally and internationally.

The cards include three free minutes of domestic long distance time, with an expiry of December 31, 1995. Call (615)385-1100 for information.

THIS WAY TO

A BRILLIANT COLLECTION!

Brilliant Color Cards (BCC) is the leading telephone card manufacturer in the U.S.

BCC means quality
BCC means collectable
BCC means value
BCC means security

BCC is the card manufacturer "behind the scenes" for the leading telephone companies in the US with the highest quality, photodigital printing process using the best recyclable materials.

BCC is the home of industry "firsts":

- first photodigitally produced cards
- first polyester cards
- first scratch off
- first Jumbo sized cards (TeleCard Man)
- first silver cards
- first environmentally conscious phone card. We urge collectors to avoid PVC cards and to look into our recycling program (an alliance between Kodak and Brilliant Color Cards)
- first cards printed full color on both sides
- and now - we introduce a lower priced, but still high quality collectible for the mass market; color cards printed on styrene.

With so many phone companies and so many designs, how can the hobbyist decide what to collect? An increasing number of careful collectors collect only BCC cards.

How does a collector know the card is printed by Brilliant Color Cards?

- the quality will tell you
- the BCC on the back will confirm it!
